'56 Ohio Farm Crop Value Shows Decline

Ag Department Tally Shows $8 Million Drop From 1955's Total

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today that 1956 farm crops in Ohio had a total value of more than $8 million less than in 1955.

This was not the trend for the nation as a whole where this year's total showed a light gain over last year.

The total for 1956 in Ohio was $610,951,000 compared to $619,386,000 for 1955.

Nationwide, the total for 1956 was $18,973,732,000 compared to a total of $18,575,494,000 for 1955.

These figures did not include the value of livestock and livestock products.

Corn easily held its traditional spot as the top money crop. It was valued at $4,571,274,000 this year, coopared with $4,360,633,000 for the 1955 crop.

Cotton, including cottonseed, was second with a value of $2,444,053,000 compared with $2,648,293,000 last year.

HAY WAS THIRD at $2,302,100,000 compared with $2,342,230,000 last year.

The values of 1956 and 1955 crops, respectively, in states other than Ohio were: Indiana $710,958,000 and $658,194,000; Michigan $441,515,000 and $404,419,000; West Virginia $58,798,000 and $54,938,000; Kentucky $414,276,000 and $379,420,000.

The Agriculture Department has forecast next year's winter wheat crop at 624,953,000 bushels based on conditions prevailing Dec. 1.

Such a crop would be 110,042,600 bushels less than is year's production of 734,995,000 bushels and would compare with the 1945-54 average of 873,690,000.

16 Runaway Cars Ram Into Mail Train

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Sixteen runaway freight cars plowed into a mail train Wednesday night and a diesel engine and three of the freight cars tumbled 15 feet into a downtown parking lot.

The engine's fireman was killed. Two other railroaders were hurt.

The runaway cars, all loaded, raced four miles down a grade before ramming the mail train, which was entering the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot.

Firemen Thomas Hale, 56, Syracuse, died in a Syracuse hospital a few hours after being removed from the wreck of the diesel.

The accident occurred at the height of an early-evening, Christmas shopping rush.

At least 10 automobiles in the crowded parking lot were crushed under the engine and freight cars.

Six other freight cars were scattered about the tracks.

The diesel engine had been pushing four mail cars into the depot. A policeman estimated the freight cars were traveling 70 miles an hour when they hit the mail train.

R. W. Jones, superintendent of the Scranton Division of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, said reports would be sought from six men who had been switching freight cars at sidings outside the city. Jones said 'somehow the 16 got loose.''

Involved in the bargain sale are 12 cordials and liquors, one rum, one vodka, one whisky blend, one Scotch and four cocktails.

City Auditor Reveals Story Behind 'Sloppy' Budget

Lillian Young Claims Lawmakers Are Befuddled; She Is Still Waiting Return Of Important Papers

City Auditor Lillian Young, riled by the way councilmen at their latest meeting talked about the "budget" being in "sloppy" shape, today added a brand-new chapter to the story.

Some of the discussion about the "budget" in last Tuesday's council session left the impression that at least some of the "sloppy" work could be traced to the auditor's office. In reply, Miss Young revealed:

1. Instead of the "budget", the councilmen were always discussing the appropriation ordinance. "Whether they know it or not, they couldn't have been talking about the budget being sloppy, because it was passed months ago," Miss Young said.

2. Council broke a long-standing custom by failing to return the appropriation ordinance to the auditor, as allegedly promised, after the first meeting in December. The auditor expected it back in order to do a neat and complete ordinance for council's action last Tuesday.

3. MEMBERS of council act and talk about finances in their meetings without first asking the auditor for the correct or up-to-date information. "They don't even try to find out anything," Miss Young said.

4. The appropriation ordinance, which needs to be returned to the auditor to be checked and put in final form, is now missing altogether. "I don't know where it is," the city auditor said. "I don't know who took it. All I know is they didn't bring it back to me."

Miss Young's explanation disclosed that the appropriation ordinance shown to council last Tuesday night was of necessity a rough copy intended only for use in making changes, double-checking and the like, preparatory to action on the neat and final copy.

She related her side of the story as follows:

Prior to the first council meeting of December and before he left on a southern trip, Chairman George Crites of council's finance committee brought Miss Young a tentative version of the appropriation ordinance, setting forth the allocations planned to keep the city operating next year.

"I've explained all this to the boys," Miss Young said Crites told her. "They know all about it."

THEN, AFTER Crites had left the city, Judge Sterling Lamb sent down his budget for city court, and it asked for approximately $3,000 more in 1957 than the court received this year. Because of this, Miss Young said, estimated expenditures for the city next year became more than estimated income.

Miss Young pointed this out to Councilman Richard Penn when he came around just before the December 4 meeting to pick up the appropriation ordinance. When she asked if the city court request would have to be trimmed, she recalled, Penn told her he hoped they would not have to do so.

Penn, the auditor said, commented:

"Maybe you'll get in some more receipts."

And the auditor agreed there are chances that this can be done, from several sources.

Penn then took the tentative appropriation ordinance to the December 4 meeting of council, but Miss Young said she did not get it back after the meeting as promised. "For a time though," she recalled, "I didn't think anything of it, figuring they were holding it to talk to George (Crites) and thinking he would be back before last Tuesday's meeting. So I didn't think much of it at the time."

CRITES, however, did not return for last Tuesday's meeting, and council acted on the ordinance in the same rough form it was "loaned" for the December 4 meeting.

As for any confusion on any points involving either the budget or the appropriation ordinance, Miss Young said, no member of the lawmaking body came to her prior to the latest meeting to ask for clarification or to voice complaint.

Protestants Rap Ban On Luther Film

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of Protestant clergymen today were hoping Station WGN-TV would reconsider its cancellation of the scheduled showing of the film "Martin Luther."

The picture, based on the life of Luther, who broke from the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th Century to lead the Protestant movement in Germany, was scheduled for telecast Friday night. It would have been the film's television premier.

Clergymen protesting the station's decision not to show the film said "the Roman Catholic Church" brought "pressures" against the movie.

Ward L. Quaal, vice president of WGN, Inc., said:

"The station has elected to cancel the showing, not wanting to be a party to the development of any misunderstanding or ill will among persons of the Christian faith in the Chicagoland area."

Msgr. R. M. Burke, chancellor of the Chicago archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church, said:

"We have not made any representations to WGN-TV in any way. As far as the 1,800,000 Catholics here are concerned, it was an individual matter if they saw fit to protest against a film they consider historically inaccurate, if not downright insulting."

Patience Exhausted

Postmen Toss Out Buzzing Package

TOLEDO (AP)—A gaily-wrapped Christmas package was moved quickly from the postoffice to an alley Wednesday after parcel handlers heard it buzzing.

While demolition experts were being summoned to look at what some people thought was a bomb, up the alley came street cleaner Joseph Kinczeyk, 67.

To Kinczeyk, the box was litter and he proceeded to take it apart. Inside, he found a battery-powered hand vacuum sweeper, its motor apparently started by a bump.

Postoffice personnel said the package would be delivered.

French Premier Still Says Invasion Of Egypt Necessary

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet declared today the motives which compelled British and French action in the Middle East "are as compelling today as yesterday."

In a speech to the National Assembly the premier defended the British - French action on the grounds of Soviet penetration into the Middle East.

"Its penetration was not noisy, but was thus the deeper and prepared dangerous tomorrows for the West," Mollet declared.

As for the Israel attack on Egypt, Mollet said that from the day the Arab nations agreed to join military command under Egypt, Israel was encircled.

"Is it necessary to wait for the irreparable?" Mollet asked.

Referring to the United Nations, Mollet said that if Israel had been crushed "we would have wept over Israel destroyed as we weep hopelessly over martyrized Hungary."

The premier said the Atlantic alliance remained one of the bases of French foreign policy "as it was at the moment of my investiture." He added:

"Whatever may have been our differences with our American allies, the Atlantic alliance has never been in question. I know that President Eisenhower and the American government attach the same importance to it."

Meanwhile, in Cairo, Egypt, the United Nations information office announced that plans are now ready to start clearing the Suez Canal of sunken ships immediately after "E Day"—when British-French forces are evacuated from Port Said.

The Canal has been blocked since Oct. 31. Egypt has insisted that no work be done on removing the blocks until after the British and French leave.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is reported to have recruited a force of 31 Danish, Dutch, German, Italian and Belgian ships, together with 600 crewmen, divers and salvage experts to undertake the operation.

Austria Told U.S. To Give All Aid Possible

Eisenhower Message On Refugee Problem Delivered By Nixon

VIENNA (AP) — President Eisenhower today promised the United States would do everything in its power to help solve the problem created by hordes of Hungarian refugees crowding Austria and still crossing through the Iron Curtain to freedom.

The President's promise was contained in a letter delivered by Vice President Richard M. Nixon to Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab shortly before the American official set out on a visit to refugee camps not far from the border.

A high official source said Nixon believes the United States should admit more Hungarians. Eisenhower has ordered 21,500 admitted by the end of the year. He had raised the figure from 5,000.

Eisenhower in his letter to Raab said Nixon was acting as his personal representative in an effort to find a solution of a problem which had deeply touched the American people—the flight of more than 140,000 Hungarians in search of protection.

Ishibashi, 72, New Premier Of Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Tanzan Ishibashi, 72-year-old new president of the Liberal - Democratic party, was elected prime minister of Japan today. He advocates continued cooperation with Western countries, but more trade with Communist China.

Ishibashi succeeds Ichiro Hatoyama, who resigned with his Cabinet earlier today in preparation for the vote in the House of Representatives. The lower house of the Japanese Diet gave Ishibashi 291 votes to 150 for Mosaburo Suzuki, leader of the opposition Socialist parth.

Hatoyama, 73, retired as Liberal-Democratic leader Dec. 14 because of bad health. He said his two years in office had achieved his two major goals: reopening diplomatic relations with Russia and the admission of Japan to the United Nations.

Twenty-six members of the Diet's 467-member lower house were absent when today's vote was taken. Among them was Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, now in New York where he went to attend Japan's U. N. induction.

Shigemitsu, a former prime minister, submitted his resignation along with the rest of Hatoyama's Cabinet. He is believed out of the running for the Foreign Ministry in the new government.

Ishibashi, son of a Buddhist priest, is Japan's sixth prime minister since World War II. He is an economist and journalist who has had a stormy career since he entered politics after the war.

Refugees Getting Close U.S. Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — Immigration authorities said today Hungarians being admitted to this country under the emergency refugee program are being subjected to "more of a security screening" than regular visa applicants.

One official expressed confidence the various security steps would prevent Communists from slipping into the United States under the guise of refugees.

President Eisenhower has ordered the admission of 21,500 Hungarians who fled their Soviet-oppressed homeland into Austria.

Permanent visas already have been granted to 6,500 under the Refugee Relief Act. Another 15,000 refugees are due for admission under special "parole."

Warren Countian Killed In Crash

LEBANON (AP)—John F. Newell, 46, of Pleasant Plain, Warren County, was killed instantly today when his auto collided with a Baltimore & Ohio freight train 14 miles south of here.

Coroner Ralph Young reported that Newell, driving in rain and fog, hit the 14th car of the freight train at Rossburg road crossing.

Ike-Nehru Talks Said Big Success

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials said today the talks between Indian Prime Minister Nehru and President Eisenhower have been a big success from the American point of view.

Nehru himself appeared pleased with the results. The formal talks between the two men ended Wednesday. Wednesday night Nehru gave a state dinner at the Indian Embassy for the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Most U. S. officials credited Eisenhower with apparent success in convincing Nehru that the United States is not following a rigid foreign policy but is prepared to make adjustments as developments demand.

Nehru made this point Wednesday when he told a news conference U. S. policy is "flexible" and not as rigid as he had thought.

Asked specifically whether he regarded such flexibility as applying to the policy of nonrecognition of Red China and blocking Red Chinese membership in the United Nations, Nehru replied that he could not give a "yes" or "No" answer.

THERE APPEARS to be no doubt that in their private talks Eisenhower and Nehru debated the Red China issue thoroughly and that Nehru repeated that Red China is a reality. He told newsmen the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek should not be considered to be more than the government of Formosa. Formal U. S. policy holds that the Chiang government is the legal government for all China.

Nehru's basic position of neutrality or "nonalignment," as he calls it, remains unchanged. Diplomatic authorities said there had been no effort by either him or Eisenhower to persuade the other to take a different line.

One evidence of a better understanding by Nehru of U. S. policy was found in what he said about disarmament. He declared that the "first necessity" is to create confidence, obviously meaning mutual confidence between the United States and Russia.

That makes it essential, he declared, to have agreement on arrangements for an inspection system. This is very close to the Eisenhower view.

At another point, the Indian prime minister said he did not think it proper to call Soviet control of Eastern European countries "colonialism." He apparently reserves that term to mean European domination of Asian or African areas. Nehru went on to say he thought it clear that Russia has exercised a "dominating influence" over the satellites, as shown in the Hungarian revolt.

Matron, 50, Is Held As Embezzler

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Embezzlement of nearly $50,000 over six years from a loan company here today was laid against its cashier, Mrs. Cora Zidan, a mild-mannered matron of 50 .

Mrs. Zidan, who authorities said signed a statement that she took the money, remarked afterward: "I don't know why I did it. I didn't want to do it, but I got started and couldn't quit."

She was employed by the Denver Discount Co. and Allied Credit Corp., a joint firm. She had worked for the company 10 years. Her salary was $240 a month.

After arraignment, she was released under $2,500 bond.

Ray Humphreys, an investigator for the district attorney's office, disclosed the following:

Mrs. Zidan admitted taking $48,000 to $50,000 at the rate of $10,000 a year until last month, when a fellow employe questioned her records.

Mrs. Zidan told investigators she took money from the cash drawer and replaced it with checks received in the mail as home mortgage payments. She said familiarity with the operations of auditors enabled her to adjust her accounts before the books were checked.

Jewelry Firms Said Swindled By 'Salesman'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seven jewelry firms here have been swindled out of thousands of dollars worth of diamonds by a man they considered a reliable salesman.

Now the "salesman" has disappeared, and detectives consider very interesting the fact they can't find any fingerprints in the home he was occupying. Apparently all the prints had been removed.

Sought in the case was Gene Palmieri, 45, who took diamonds from all of the firms last weekend and hasn't showed up since. The firms said Palmieri told them he was going to sell the gems and return last Monday with the proceeds.

Investigation has showed he has moved from his home here. His automobile was found abandoned in a parking lot here.

The seven Cleveland firms said they gave him diamonds worth between $80,000 and $100,000 retail. One, the Phillips Jewelry Co., signed an affidavit charging him with grand larceny by trick.

Prison Terms Without Trial Being Ordered

Strikes Now Illegal; Moscow Area Getting Ban On 'Hooliganism'

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Russian-backed Hungarian government has re-established the dreaded interment system under which thousands of people were jailed without trial during the Stalin era.

A decree issued by the presidential council said that "persons whose activity or behavior endangers public order, especially production, can be placedunder detention of public security."

The maximum detention period was set at six months.

Special significance is attached to the portion of the decree which specifies that anyone who interferes with production can be interned without trial. This gives Premier Janos Kadar's regime a legal weapon for breaking any kind of strike. The government still has in jail two leaders of the Budapest Central Workers' Council who ordered a two - day general strike last week.

BECAUSE OF a severe shortage of coal and power, the Kadar government has cut work in the steel and machine building industries to three days a week. Simultaneously thousands of idle factory workers were ordered to public construction projects to rebuild homes and business buildings damaged during the anti-Russian revolt.

The present condition is one of creeping paralysis through the country's industry. But peace appeared to be settling over the troubled country.

Kadar was quoted by the Communist East Germany news agency ADN as telling Eastern bloc correspondents in Budapest that his forces are getting strong enough to suppress rebellion without Russian assistance.

In Russia today, too, there was evidence that the Red iron fish was squeezing anew. The government of the area called the Russian Federation, which includes the capital city of Moscow, announced a crackdown on "hooliganism."

The federation published a decree providing for the arrest and imprisonment ranging from three to five days of persons committing such acts as violation of public order, insulting disrespect, use of bad language, and other public misbehavior.

In Communist parlance, hooliganism is a flexible term which may cover disorders ranging from rowdyism to political demonstrations.

There have been reports of disor-

My colleague, Dr. Schwine, is well aware of the situation and he's doing something about it by putting out what he calls "THE BIG HOUSE KIT," to help convicts wile away those weary hours. Here's what's in it. 1. An autographed photo of Willy Sutton or Ma Barker. 2. Fifty feet of extra strength jumping rope. 3. Six dozen road maps. 4. A combination walking stick and crow bar. 5. A one-way ticket to South America. 6. One pair of blue suede sneakers. 7. A dark blue suit (double breasted). Incidentally, this kit is top secret so try not to say anything about it .However, if you can't keep your big mouth shut then send a dollar to Dr. Schwine for offer No. 66-308-B (Stool Pigeon Kit).

Cypriots Strongly Reject Limited Self-Rule Offers

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — More than 1,000 high school students demonstrated today against Britain's offer of limited self-rule to rebellious Cyprus. Leaders of the island colony's Greek majority and Turkish minority firmly rejected the proposal.

Police and British military patrols broke up the demonstration in Famagusta. They said the 17-year-old leader of the march was wounded in the shoulder when he ran after being ordered to halt.

Twenty-three of the boys and girls were marched off to the police station.

Despite the general opposition on Cyprus, constitutional proposals did open the way for a resumption of talks between Britain and Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the Greek Cypriots.

Cyprus' Greek-origin residents, about four-fifths of the 500,000 population, insist that Makarios is the only person with whom Britain can negotiate.

Britain deported the high Greek Orthodox churchman to the Seychelle Islands in the Indian Ocean last March, charging him with directing the campaign of violence waged since 1954 the EOKA underground. Makarios was the leader of the Greek-Cypriot drive for independence of Cyprus and eventual union with Greece.

Two British representatives were to meet with the archbishop today to explain Britain's new proposal for a constitution.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, announcing the offer in the House of Commons in London, emphasized that the talks with Makarios were to be "consultations" and not "negotiations."

There was speculation the new British proposals and the talks with Makarios might be opened a way for his release. British leaders have said he can win his freedom by denouncing the use of force in politics.

The British proposals met the sharpest rejection from Greek Cypriot leaders and from the Greek government because they did not set a date for granting self-determination for Cyprus. It is considered certain that such a plebiscite would find the Greek majority making the island a political part of Greece.

Miss Young's explanation disclosed that the appropriation ordinance shown to council last Tuesday night was of necessity a rough copy intended only for use in making changes, double-checking and the like, preparatory to action on the neat and final copy.

She related her side of the story as follows:

Prior to the first council meeting of December and before he left on a southern trip, Chairman George Crites of council's finance committee brought Miss Young a tentative version of the appropriation ordinance, setting forth the allocations planned to keep the city operating next year.

"I've explained all this to the boys," Miss Young said Crites told her. "They know all about it."

THEN, AFTER Crites had left the city, Judge Sterling Lamb sent down his budget for city court, and it asked for approximately $3,000 more in 1957 than the court received this year. Because of this, Miss Young said, estimated expenditures for the city next year became more than estimated income.

Miss Young pointed this out to Councilman Richard Penn when he came around just before the December 4 meeting to pick up the appropriation ordinance. When she asked if the city court request would have to be trimmed, she recalled, Penn told her he hoped they would not have to do so.

Penn, the auditor said, commented:

"Maybe you'll get in some more receipts."

And the auditor agreed there are chances that this can be done, from several sources.

Penn then took the tentative appropriation ordinance to the December 4 meeting of council, but Miss Young said she did not get it back after the meeting as promised. "For a time though," she recalled, "I didn't think anything of it, figuring they were holding it to talk to George (Crites) and thinking he would be back before last Tuesday's meeting. So I didn't think much of it at the time."

CRITES, however, did not return for last Tuesday's meeting, and council acted on the ordinance in the same rough form it was "loaned" for the December 4 meeting.

As for any confusion on any points involving either the budget or the appropriation ordinance, Miss Young said, no member of the lawmaking body came to her prior to the latest meeting to ask for clarification or to voice complaint.

Protestants Rap Ban On Luther Film

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of Protestant clergymen today were hoping Station WGN-TV would reconsider its cancellation of the scheduled showing of the film "Martin Luther."

The picture, based on the life of Luther, who broke from the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th Century to lead the Protestant movement in Germany, was scheduled for telecast Friday night. It would have been the film's television premier.

Clergymen protesting the station's decision not to show the film said "the Roman Catholic Church" brought "pressures" against the movie.

Ward L. Quaal, vice president of WGN, Inc., said:

"The station has elected to cancel the showing, not wanting to be a party to the development of any misunderstanding or ill will among persons of the Christian faith in the Chicagoland area."

Msgr. R. M. Burke, chancellor of the Chicago archdiocese of the Roman Catholic Church, said:

"We have not made any representations to WGN-TV in any way. As far as the 1,800,000 Catholics here are concerned, it was an individual matter if they saw fit to protest against a film they consider historically inaccurate, if not downright insulting."

Patience Exhausted

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — Postman Edward Serven, 42, says in a court action that the same dog has bitten him 18 times in 11 years. Serven filed claim for $100,000 against the dog's owner.

Postmen Toss Out Buzzing Package

TOLEDO (AP)—A gaily-wrapped Christmas package was moved quickly from the postoffice to an alley Wednesday after parcel handlers heard it buzzing.

While demolition experts were being summoned to look at what some people thought was a bomb, up the alley came street cleaner Joseph Kinczeyk, 67.

To Kinczeyk, the box was litter and he proceeded to take it apart. Inside, he found a battery-powered hand vacuum sweeper, its motor apparently started by a bump.

Postoffice personnel said the package would be delivered.

French Premier Still Says Invasion Of Egypt Necessary

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet declared today the motives which compelled British and French action in the Middle East "are as compelling today as yesterday."

In a speech to the National Assembly the premier defended the British - French action on the grounds of Soviet penetration into the Middle East.

"Its penetration was not noisy, but was thus the deeper and prepared dangerous tomorrows for the West," Mollet declared.

As for the Israel attack on Egypt, Mollet said that from the day the Arab nations agreed to join military command under Egypt, Israel was encircled.

"Is it necessary to wait for the irreparable?" Mollet asked.

Referring to the United Nations, Mollet said that if Israel had been crushed "we would have wept over Israel destroyed as we weep hopelessly over martyrized Hungary."

The premier said the Atlantic alliance remained one of the bases of French foreign policy "as it was at the moment of my investiture." He added:

"Whatever may have been our differences with our American allies, the Atlantic alliance has never been in question. I know that President Eisenhower and the American government attach the same importance to it."

Meanwhile, in Cairo, Egypt, the United Nations information office announced that plans are now ready to start clearing the Suez Canal of sunken ships immediately after "E Day"—when British-French forces are evacuated from Port Said.

The Canal has been blocked since Oct. 31. Egypt has insisted that no work be done on removing the blocks until after the British and French leave.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is reported to have recruited a force of 31 Danish, Dutch, German, Italian and Belgian ships, together with 600 crewmen, divers and salvage experts to undertake the operation.

Austria Told U.S. To Give All Aid Possible

Eisenhower Message On Refugee Problem Delivered By Nixon

VIENNA (AP) — President Eisenhower today promised the United States would do everything in its power to help solve the problem created by hordes of Hungarian refugees crowding Austria and still crossing through the Iron Curtain to freedom.

The President's promise was contained in a letter delivered by Vice President Richard M. Nixon to Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab shortly before the American official set out on a visit to refugee camps not far from the border.

A high official source said Nixon believes the United States should admit more Hungarians. Eisenhower has ordered 21,500 admitted by the end of the year. He had raised the figure from 5,000.

Eisenhower in his letter to Raab said Nixon was acting as his personal representative in an effort to find a solution of a problem which had deeply touched the American people—the flight of more than 140,000 Hungarians in search of protection.

Ishibashi, 72, New Premier Of Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — Tanzan Ishibashi, 72-year-old new president of the Liberal - Democratic party, was elected prime minister of Japan today. He advocates continued cooperation with Western countries, but more trade with Communist China.

Ishibashi succeeds Ichiro Hatoyama, who resigned with his Cabinet earlier today in preparation for the vote in the House of Representatives. The lower house of the Japanese Diet gave Ishibashi 291 votes to 150 for Mosaburo Suzuki, leader of the opposition Socialist parth.

Hatoyama, 73, retired as Liberal-Democratic leader Dec. 14 because of bad health. He said his two years in office had achieved his two major goals: reopening diplomatic relations with Russia and the admission of Japan to the United Nations.

Twenty-six members of the Diet's 467-member lower house were absent when today's vote was taken. Among them was Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, now in New York where he went to attend Japan's U. N. induction.

Shigemitsu, a former prime minister, submitted his resignation along with the rest of Hatoyama's Cabinet. He is believed out of the running for the Foreign Ministry in the new government.

Ishibashi, son of a Buddhist priest, is Japan's sixth prime minister since World War II. He is an economist and journalist who has had a stormy career since he entered politics after the war.

Refugees Getting Close U.S. Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — Immigration authorities said today Hungarians being admitted to this country under the emergency refugee program are being subjected to "more of a security screening" than regular visa applicants.

One official expressed confidence the various security steps would prevent Communists from slipping into the United States under the guise of refugees.

President Eisenhower has ordered the admission of 21,500 Hungarians who fled their Soviet-oppressed homeland into Austria.

Permanent visas already have been granted to 6,500 under the Refugee Relief Act. Another 15,000 refugees are due for admission under special "parole."

LEBANON (AP)—John F. Newell, 46, of Pleasant Plain, Warren County, was killed instantly today when his auto collided with a Baltimore & Ohio freight train 14 miles south of here.

Coroner Ralph Young reported that Newell, driving in rain and fog, hit the 14th car of the freight train at Rossburg road crossing.

Ike-Nehru Talks Said Big Success

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials said today the talks between Indian Prime Minister Nehru and President Eisenhower have been a big success from the American point of view.

Nehru himself appeared pleased with the results. The formal talks between the two men ended Wednesday. Wednesday night Nehru gave a state dinner at the Indian Embassy for the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Most U. S. officials credited Eisenhower with apparent success in convincing Nehru that the United States is not following a rigid foreign policy but is prepared to make adjustments as developments demand.

Nehru made this point Wednesday when he told a news conference U. S. policy is "flexible" and not as rigid as he had thought.

Asked specifically whether he regarded such flexibility as applying to the policy of nonrecognition of Red China and blocking Red Chinese membership in the United Nations, Nehru replied that he could not give a "yes" or "No" answer.

THERE APPEARS to be no doubt that in their private talks Eisenhower and Nehru debated the Red China issue thoroughly and that Nehru repeated that Red China is a reality. He told newsmen the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-shek should not be considered to be more than the government of Formosa. Formal U. S. policy holds that the Chiang government is the legal government for all China.

Nehru's basic position of neutrality or "nonalignment," as he calls it, remains unchanged. Diplomatic authorities said there had been no effort by either him or Eisenhower to persuade the other to take a different line.

One evidence of a better understanding by Nehru of U. S. policy was found in what he said about disarmament. He declared that the "first necessity" is to create confidence, obviously meaning mutual confidence between the United States and Russia.

That makes it essential, he declared, to have agreement on arrangements for an inspection system. This is very close to the Eisenhower view.

At another point, the Indian prime minister said he did not think it proper to call Soviet control of Eastern European countries "colonialism." He apparently reserves that term to mean European domination of Asian or African areas. Nehru went on to say he thought it clear that Russia has exercised a "dominating influence" over the satellites, as shown in the Hungarian revolt.

Matron, 50, Is Held As Embezzler

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Embezzlement of nearly $50,000 over six years from a loan company here today was laid against its cashier, Mrs. Cora Zidan, a mild-mannered matron of 50 .

Mrs. Zidan, who authorities said signed a statement that she took the money, remarked afterward: "I don't know why I did it. I didn't want to do it, but I got started and couldn't quit."

She was employed by the Denver Discount Co. and Allied Credit Corp., a joint firm. She had worked for the company 10 years. Her salary was $240 a month.

After arraignment, she was released under $2,500 bond.

Ray Humphreys, an investigator for the district attorney's office, disclosed the following:

Mrs. Zidan admitted taking $48,000 to $50,000 at the rate of $10,000 a year until last month, when a fellow employe questioned her records.

Mrs. Zidan told investigators she took money from the cash drawer and replaced it with checks received in the mail as home mortgage payments. She said familiarity with the operations of auditors enabled her to adjust her accounts before the books were checked.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Most Ohio highways, including the Ohio Turnpike, were wet this morning because of a general light rain.

Jewelry Firms Said Swindled By 'Salesman'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seven jewelry firms here have been swindled out of thousands of dollars worth of diamonds by a man they considered a reliable salesman.

Now the "salesman" has disappeared, and detectives consider very interesting the fact they can't find any fingerprints in the home he was occupying. Apparently all the prints had been removed.

Sought in the case was Gene Palmieri, 45, who took diamonds from all of the firms last weekend and hasn't showed up since. The firms said Palmieri told them he was going to sell the gems and return last Monday with the proceeds.

Investigation has showed he has moved from his home here. His automobile was found abandoned in a parking lot here.

The seven Cleveland firms said they gave him diamonds worth between $80,000 and $100,000 retail. One, the Phillips Jewelry Co., signed an affidavit charging him with grand larceny by trick.

Cypriots Strongly Reject Limited Self-Rule Offers

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — More than 1,000 high school students demonstrated today against Britain's offer of limited self-rule to rebellious Cyprus. Leaders of the island colony's Greek majority and Turkish minority firmly rejected the proposal.

Police and British military patrols broke up the demonstration in Famagusta. They said the 17-year-old leader of the march was wounded in the shoulder when he ran after being ordered to halt.

Twenty-three of the boys and girls were marched off to the police station.

Despite the general opposition on Cyprus, constitutional proposals did open the way for a resumption of talks between Britain and Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the Greek Cypriots.

Cyprus' Greek-origin residents, about four-fifths of the 500,000 population, insist that Makarios is the only person with whom Britain can negotiate.

Britain deported the high Greek Orthodox churchman to the Seychelle Islands in the Indian Ocean last March, charging him with directing the campaign of violence waged since 1954 the EOKA underground. Makarios was the leader of the Greek-Cypriot drive for independence of Cyprus and eventual union with Greece.

Two British representatives were to meet with the archbishop today to explain Britain's new proposal for a constitution.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, announcing the offer in the House of Commons in London, emphasized that the talks with Makarios were to be "consultations" and not "negotiations."

There was speculation the new British proposals and the talks with Makarios might be opened a way for his release. British leaders have said he can win his freedom by denouncing the use of force in politics.

The British proposals met the sharpest rejection from Greek Cypriot leaders and from the Greek government because they did not set a date for granting self-determination for Cyprus. It is considered certain that such a plebiscite would find the Greek majority making the island a political part of Greece.

Ike To Light Tree At Rites Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will press a button at nightfall to light a 67-foot national community Christmas tree.

Signaling the beginning of the Yule observance, Eisenhower also will speak to the nation briefly at 5:15 p. m. EST over CBS radio and ABC radio and television.

Mrs. Eisenhower planned to join the President in the annual ceremony on the White House grounds. The Eisenhowers plan to spend Christmas Day at the White House.

Prison Terms Without Trial Being Ordered

Strikes Now Illegal; Moscow Area Getting Ban On 'Hooliganism'

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Russian-backed Hungarian government has re-established the dreaded interment system under which thousands of people were jailed without trial during the Stalin era.

A decree issued by the presidential council said that "persons whose activity or behavior endangers public order, especially production, can be placedunder detention of public security."

The maximum detention period was set at six months.

Special significance is attached to the portion of the decree which specifies that anyone who interferes with production can be interned without trial. This gives Premier Janos Kadar's regime a legal weapon for breaking any kind of strike. The government still has in jail two leaders of the Budapest Central Workers' Council who ordered a two - day general strike last week.

BECAUSE OF a severe shortage of coal and power, the Kadar government has cut work in the steel and machine building industries to three days a week. Simultaneously thousands of idle factory workers were ordered to public construction projects to rebuild homes and business buildings damaged during the anti-Russian revolt.

The present condition is one of creeping paralysis through the country's industry. But peace appeared to be settling over the troubled country.

Kadar was quoted by the Communist East Germany news agency ADN as telling Eastern bloc correspondents in Budapest that his forces are getting strong enough to suppress rebellion without Russian assistance.

In Russia today, too, there was evidence that the Red iron fish was squeezing anew. The government of the area called the Russian Federation, which includes the capital city of Moscow, announced a crackdown on "hooliganism."

The federation published a decree providing for the arrest and imprisonment ranging from three to five days of persons committing such acts as violation of public order, insulting disrespect, use of bad language, and other public misbehavior.

In Communist parlance, hooliganism is a flexible term which may cover disorders ranging from rowdyism to political demonstrations.

There have been reports of disor-

"EYE CHART FOR CONVICTS"

If you've ever seen any Humphrey Bogart movies then you know the hardships that those men in stripes endure. My colleague, Dr. Schwine, is well aware of the situation and he's doing something about it by putting out what he calls "THE BIG HOUSE KIT," to help convicts wile away those weary hours. Here's what's in it. 1. An autographed photo of Willy Sutton or Ma Barker. 2. Fifty feet of extra strength jumping rope. 3. Six dozen road maps. 4. A combination walking stick and crow bar. 5. A one-way ticket to South America. 6. One pair of blue suede sneakers. 7. A dark blue suit (double breasted). Incidentally, this kit is top secret so try not to say anything about it .However, if you can't keep your big mouth shut then send a dollar to Dr. Schwine for offer No. 66-308-B (Stool Pigeon Kit).

extent of the problem and recommend further steps by the United States.

Nixon saw Raab briefly to deliver the letter shortly after he had paid his respects to Austrian President Theodor Koerner.

After his round of courtesy visits, Nixon was driven to Burgenland Province only 10 miles from where the Hungarians are crossing into this country.

Nixon said on his arrival that he hoped "to obtain as accurate information as is possible under the circumstances as to the number of refugees the United States should be prepared to receive."

He added that "we are fully determined to do our full share in meeting the needs which have grown out of the refugee problem."

Austrian officials not only want the United States to take more of the refugees straining the facilities of this little country but also want Washington to give additional financial aid for those who remain. About 70,000 refugees are believed still in Austria and from 500 to 1,000 are still arriving daily.

'56 Ohio Farm Crop Value Shows Decline

a million bushels surpluses from past big crops assures consumers ample supplies.

The forecast was limited to fall-sown winter wheat. No prediction on spring wheat will be given until after the crop is seeded next spring.

But should the spring wheat crop equal this year's 222 million bushels, next year's combined winter and spring crops would total 846,953,000 bushels. This year's combined crop was 997,207,000 bushels and the 10-year average 1,148,289,000.

THE DEPARTMENT estimated the acreage seed to winter wheat for all purposes totaled 36,778,000 acres compared with 44,503,000 for this year's crop.

Some of the reduction in seedings reflected agreements to take some land out of production under the new soil bank program which offers payments for retirement of land from surplus crops.

The acreage seeded for winter wheat for the 1957 crop, the percentage this represents of seedings for the 1956 crop and the indicated production, respectively, in Ohio is 1,444,000 acres seeded; 90 per cent of seedings for this year's crop and production 37,544,000 bushels.

ONCE UPON A CHRISTMAS EVE

By WILLIAM RITT

WHILE Eski isn't looking the little twins, Dilly and Dally, sneak into the Star Ship where they begin playing with the gears. Dally spies a row of shiny bright push buttons and, to see what will happen, presses one of them.

WITH A ROAR the Star Ship, its door slamming shut, streaks up into the sky at a terrific speed. Horrified, Santa, Eski and the Professor watch as the Star Ship gets smaller and smaller away, away up in the dark sky!

"THE STAR SHIP has finally stopped," says Santa, looking at it through a telescope, "but it must be at least 1,000 miles up!" "Oh, Santa," moans Eski tearfully, "how can we save my little cousins? Poor Dilly! Poor Dally!"

"I WISH I knew how," Santa sympathizes, "nothing on earth other than the Rainbow could ever reach that high!" "Rainbow?" repeats Eski, "Wait! Maybe we can save the twins, after all!" (To Be Continued)

Phone Union Talks Delayed Until Dec. 27

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Deadlocked uniTon-management negotiations to end the five-month strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. were recessed early today following a marathon 12-hour bargaining session.

A spokesman for the striking Communications Workers of America said the talks which began at 2 p.m. Wednesday and ended shortly after 2 a.m. produced "absolutely no progress." The spokesman said negotiators have scheduled resumption of contract talks for Thursday, Dec. 27, at Columbus.

Both company and union representatives restated their positions on the disputed issues point by point but neither side made concessions, the spokesman said. Disputed issues include renewal of the union shop clause, arbitration and union status of supervisory personnel.

CWA has been on strike against the company since July 15. Ohio Consolidated closed its exchanges in Portsmouth, New Boston and Sciotoville Oct. 15 after rock-throwing and cable cutting incidents.

Emergency telephone service was restored in Portsmouth last Sunday. There have been no reports of any new violence. The manually operated exchanges in New Boston and Sciotoville are still closed.

Boys To Round Up Used Yule Trees

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP) — The Washington C. H. High School Hi-Y Club believes it should do more than just talk about its community service obligations.

The group announced that after Christmas, it will gather up all of this city's discarded yule trees and deliver them to farmers where they will be stacked along fence rows as a game refuge.

The day after last Halloween, the same group of boys swarmed over the downtown business district and washed windows which had been soaped the night before by pranksters.

Injunction Limiting Pickets Continues At Phone Office

A temporary injunction that limits picketing by striking telephone union workers here was allowed to stand following a hearing held in Pickaway County Common Pleas court yesterday.

The hearing was based on merits of the case involving Circleville's Ohio Consolidated Telephone exchange and the striking union members of local 4373, Communications Workers of America.

Judge William D. Radcliff, presiding, ruled that both sides will be allowed to file additional information pertaining to the injunction.

A decision in the court action will be made after such information is filed, Judge Radcliff said. The court order was requested and granted in October.

THE temporary injunction was requested by the local telephone exchange after company officials asserted union members were using unfair picketing practices. Their petition was granted.

The injunction now in effect states that union members must conduct picketing in an orderly and peaceful manner. The court order also says that no more than two pickets can be on duty at each telephone exchange entrance.

Only persons who are bona fide members of local 4373 are permitted to engage in picketing under this order.

Indiana Eccentric Is Mum On Reasons For Shootings

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—Police made another attempt today to question a 40-year-old eccentric blamed for shootings in nearby Ray with a rifle and a revolver that left three persons dead, two wounded.

Two of the victims were not found until about 18 hours after they were shot. Police checking reports of neighborhood grudges found the bodies of Fred Peterson, 53, and his son, Ronald, 24, in their home Wednesday afternoon. They were killed with .45 caliber revolver bullets.

A 48-year-old farmhand, Mervin Forrester, had been found dead in the doorway of his home after the shooting spree Tuesday night. He had rifle bullets in the head and chest.

Merlin McNaughton, who never had caused serious trouble before, was held without charge. State police said he had been crazed by an obsession that "everybody in Ray was out to get him."

McNaughton was described as an intelligent man who quoted scripture.

HE SAT IN his cell mumbling and would give no explanation of the shooting, Sheriff Harry Dirrim said. He called McNaughton a "mental case," although he never had received treatment. The sheriff also said there had been "unfriendly feeling" in the neighborhood.

Also wounded in the Tuesday night shooting were Preston Bradley, 38-year-old foundryman, and his wife, Nancy, 38. Bradley was in good condition in Cameron Hospital here, and Mrs. Bradley was listed in "fairly good condition" after surgery in Fort Wayne.

The Bradley's 4-year-old daughter, Cathy, taken from their bed and found with McNaughton when he surrendered in his own home, was unharmed.

The Petersons apparently had been killed just after Forester was shot, and before the Bradleys were wounded and their daughter abducted.

When he surrendered, McNaughton was wearing pillows strapped to his chest and back. Neighbors said he had worn them more than two years, afraid he would be shot and saying they would "keep the bullets from hurting."

Forrester lived across the street from McNaughton in a house owned by McNaughton. The Petersons lived next door to McNaughton, and the Bradleys lived in the same block.

Neighbors said McNaughton had never worked but lived on the income from his property, inherited from his father.

ders within Russia in recent weeks simultaneous with Soviet intervention in Hungary and Poland's assertion of independence from Moscow control.

REPORTS OF unrest among young Soviet students and workers, sparked by a growing disillusionment with Communist doctrine, were heard earlier this month.

One report said that many Soviet students, including some women, had protested the use of textbooks for propaganda purposes. Some were reported expelled for helping produce a sort of newspaper displaying foreign news bulletins. A Russian educational official later claimed that expulsions were not high and that they were for such routine offenses as absenteeism.

About a week later a dispatch from Moscow said that newspapers received in the Soviet capital reported student unrest in Leningrad and the Baltic states. Some of these reports referred to unrest "bordering on hooliganism."

Scioto Elks Club Hit By Burglars

City police are today investigating a breakin at the Elks club on S. Scioto St. which took place during the night.

Thieves, apparently looking for money, ransacked a cash register. Nothing was reported missing.

The intruders entered the building by breaking a front window. The breakin was discovered this morning by the club custodian.

An investigation is being conducted by Sgt. Georgre Green and Officer Bob Temple.

O'Nelll, Ike Chat At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's GOP governor-elect, C. William O'Neill, chatted with President Eisenhower today and reported later they agreed that getting young, able men into government is a "most difficult" problem.

O'Neill said he told the President during their 20-minute conversation at the White House that the problem on the state level is one of salary and the short time in office. The President, he said, told him this is also true in a national administration.

O'Neill will take over from the Democratic administration headed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Court Strikes Down Rap Against Author

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today struck down the contempt of Congress conviction of author Harvey O'Connor, who refused to tell Senate investigators whether he was a "member of the Communist conspiracy."

In reversing the conviction, the court said the question asked of O'Connor was "so imprecise and ambiguous" that his refusal to answer was not a crime.

O'Connor, in refusing to answer, relied on the First Amendment which guarantees freedom of speech, press and assembly.

Ohio Mining Boost Seen For Future

COLUMBUS (AP)—If no major war breaks out, and if "the freedom of initiative" is not seriously restricted, Ohio can expect a 60 per cent increase in its surface mining industry, during the next 10 years the annual meeting of the Ohio Reclamation Assn. was told here Wednesday.

The prediction came from Dr. Richard L. Lund, head of the management services department of Battelle Memorial Institute.

Austria Told U.S. To Give All Aid Possible

extent of the problem and recommend further steps by the United States.

Nixon saw Raab briefly to deliver the letter shortly after he had paid his respects to Austrian President Theodor Koerner.

After his round of courtesy visits, Nixon was driven to Burgenland Province only 10 miles from where the Hungarians are crossing into this country.

Nixon said on his arrival that he hoped "to obtain as accurate information as is possible under the circumstances as to the number of refugees the United States should be prepared to receive."

He added that "we are fully determined to do our full share in meeting the needs which have grown out of the refugee problem."

Austrian officials not only want the United States to take more of the refugees straining the facilities of this little country but also want Washington to give additional financial aid for those who remain. About 70,000 refugees are believed still in Austria and from 500 to 1,000 are still arriving daily.

'56 Ohio Farm Crop Value Shows Decline

a million bushels surpluses from past big crops assures consumers ample supplies.

The forecast was limited to fall-sown winter wheat. No prediction on spring wheat will be given until after the crop is seeded next spring.

But should the spring wheat crop equal this year's 222 million bushels, next year's combined winter and spring crops would total 846,953,000 bushels. This year's combined crop was 997,207,000 bushels and the 10-year average 1,148,289,000.

THE DEPARTMENT estimated the acreage seed to winter wheat for all purposes totaled 36,778,000 acres compared with 44,503,000 for this year's crop.

Some of the reduction in seedings reflected agreements to take some land out of production under the new soil bank program which offers payments for retirement of land from surplus crops.

The acreage seeded for winter wheat for the 1957 crop, the percentage this represents of seedings for the 1956 crop and the indicated production, respectively, in Ohio is 1,444,000 acres seeded; 90 per cent of seedings for this year's crop and production 37,544,000 bushels.

ONCE UPON A CHRISTMAS EVE

By WILLIAM RITT

WHILE Eski isn't looking the little twins, Dilly and Dally, sneak into the Star Ship where they begin playing with the gears. Dally spies a row of shiny bright push buttons and, to see what will happen, presses one of them.

WITH A ROAR the Star Ship, its door slamming shut, streaks up into the sky at a terrific speed. Horrified, Santa, Eski and the Professor watch as the Star Ship gets smaller and smaller away, away up in the dark sky!

"THE STAR SHIP has finally stopped," says Santa, looking at it through a telescope, "but it must be at least 1,000 miles up!" "Oh, Santa," moans Eski tearfully, "how can we save my little cousins? Poor Dilly! Poor Dally!"

"I WISH I knew how," Santa sympathizes, "nothing on earth other than the Rainbow could ever reach that high!" "Rainbow?" repeats Eski, "Wait! Maybe we can save the twins, after all!" (To Be Continued)

Phone Union Talks Delayed Until Dec. 27

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Deadlocked uniTon-management negotiations to end the five-month strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. were recessed early today following a marathon 12-hour bargaining session.

A spokesman for the striking Communications Workers of America said the talks which began at 2 p.m. Wednesday and ended shortly after 2 a.m. produced "absolutely no progress." The spokesman said negotiators have scheduled resumption of contract talks for Thursday, Dec. 27, at Columbus.

Both company and union representatives restated their positions on the disputed issues point by point but neither side made concessions, the spokesman said. Disputed issues include renewal of the union shop clause, arbitration and union status of supervisory personnel.

CWA has been on strike against the company since July 15. Ohio Consolidated closed its exchanges in Portsmouth, New Boston and Sciotoville Oct. 15 after rock-throwing and cable cutting incidents.

Emergency telephone service was restored in Portsmouth last Sunday. There have been no reports of any new violence. The manually operated exchanges in New Boston and Sciotoville are still closed.

Boys To Round Up Used Yule Trees

WASHINGTON C. H. (AP) — The Washington C. H. High School Hi-Y Club believes it should do more than just talk about its community service obligations.

The group announced that after Christmas, it will gather up all of this city's discarded yule trees and deliver them to farmers where they will be stacked along fence rows as a game refuge.

The day after last Halloween, the same group of boys swarmed over the downtown business district and washed windows which had been soaped the night before by pranksters.

Injunction Limiting Pickets Continues At Phone Office

A temporary injunction that limits picketing by striking telephone union workers here was allowed to stand following a hearing held in Pickaway County Common Pleas court yesterday.

The hearing was based on merits of the case involving Circleville's Ohio Consolidated Telephone exchange and the striking union members of local 4373, Communications Workers of America.

Judge William D. Radcliff, presiding, ruled that both sides will be allowed to file additional information pertaiping to the injunction.

A decision in the court action will be made after such information is filed, Judge Radcliff said. The court order was requested and granted in October.

THE temporary injunction was requested by the local telephone exchange after company officials asserted union members were using unfair picketing practices. Their petition was granted.

The injunction now in effect states that union members must conduct picketing in an orderly and peaceful manner. The court order also says that no more than two pickets can be on duty at each telephone exchange entrance.

Only persons who are bona fide members of local 4373 are permitted to engage in picketing under this order.

Indiana Eccentric Is Mum On Reasons For Shootings

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—Police made another attempt today to question a 40-year-old eccentric blamed for shootings in nearby Ray with a rifle and a revolver that left three persons dead, two wounded.

Two of the victims were not found until about 18 hours after they were shot. Police checking reports of neighborhood grudges found the bodies of Fred Peterson, 53, and his son, Ronald, 24, in their home Wednesday afternoon. They were killed with .45 caliber revolver bullets.

A 48-year-old farmhand, Mervin Forrester, had been found dead in the doorway of his home after the shooting spree Tuesday night. He had rifle bullets in the head and chest.

Merlin McNaughton, who never had caused serious trouble before, was held without charge. State police said he had been crazed by an obsession that "everybody in Ray was out to get him."

McNaughton was described as an intelligent man who quoted scripture.

HE SAT IN his cell mumbling and would give no explanation of the shooting, Sheriff Harry Dirrim said. He called McNaughton a "mental case," although he never had received treatment. The sheriff also said there had been "unfriendly feeling" in the neighborhood.

Also wounded in the Tuesday night shooting were Preston Bradley, 38-year-old foundryman, and his wife, Nancy, 38. Bradley was in good condition in Cameron Hospital here, and Mrs. Bradley was listed in "fairly good condition" after surgery in Fort Wayne.

The Bradley's 4-year-old daughter, Cathy, taken from their bed and found with McNaughton when he surrendered in his own home, was unharmed.

The Petersons apparently had been killed just after Forester was shot, and before the Bradleys were wounded and their daughter abducted.

When he surrendered, McNaughton was wearing pillows strapped to his chest and back. Neighbors said he had worn them more than two years, afraid he would be shot and saying they would "keep the bullets from hurting."

Forrester lived across the street from McNaughton in a house owned by McNaughton. The Petersons lived next door to McNaughton, and the Bradleys lived in the same block.

Neighbors said McNaughton had never worked but lived on the income from his property, inherited from his father.

Prison Terms Without Trial Being Ordered

ders within Russia in recent weeks simultaneous with Soviet intervention in Hungary and Poland's assertion of independence from Moscow control.

REPORTS OF unrest among young Soviet students and workers, sparked by a growing disillusionment with Communist doctrine, were heard earlier this month.

One report said that many Soviet students, including some women, had protested the use of textbooks for propaganda purposes. Some were reported expelled for helping produce a sort of newspaper displaying foreign news bulletins. A Russian educational official later claimed that expulsions were not high and that they were for such routine offenses as absenteeism.

About a week later a dispatch from Moscow said that newspapers received in the Soviet capital reported student unrest in Leningrad and the Baltic states. Some of these reports referred to unrest "bordering on hooliganism."

Scioto Elks Club Hit By Burglars

City police are today investigating a breakin at the Elks club on S. Scioto St. which took place during the night.

Thieves, apparently looking for money, ransacked a cash register. Nothing was reported missing.

The intruders entered the building by breaking a front window. The breakin was discovered this morning by the club custodian.

An investigation is being conducted by Sgt. Georgre Green and Officer Bob Temple.

O'Neill, Ike Chat At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's GOP governor-elect, C. William O'Neill, chatted with President Eisenhower today and reported later they agreed that getting young, able men into government is a "most difficult" problem.

O'Neill said he told the President during their 20-minute conversation at the White House that the problem on the state level is one of salary and the short time in office. The President, he said, told him this is also true in a national administration.

O'Neill will take over from the Democratic administration headed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Court Strikes Down Rap Against Author

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today struck down the contempt of Congress conviction of author Harvey O'Connor, who refused to tell Senate investigators whether he was a "member of the Communist conspiracy."

In reversing the conviction, the court said the question asked of O'Connor was "so imprecise and ambiguous" that his refusal to answer was not a crime.

O'Connor, in refusing to answer, relied on the First Amendment which guarantees freedom of speech, press and assembly.

Ohio Mining Boost Seen For Future

COLUMBUS (AP)—If no major war breaks out, and if "the freedom of initiative" is not seriously restricted, Ohio can expect a 60 per cent increase in its surface mining industry, during the next 10 years the annual meeting of the Ohio Reclamation Assn. was told here Wednesday.

The prediction came from Dr. ichard L. Lund, head of the management services department of Battelle Memorial Institute.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' idea of liberation for the Russian satellites — after talking for four years about their liberation—comes down to a do-it-yourself policy.

This is cold comfort, but hardly news, for the Iron Curtain countries which want to shake loose from Russia and may have hoped for military help from the United States once they started a revolt.

If this is what they thought, when the Hungarians did revolt and got nothing but moral support from the United States. In his news conference this week Dulles seemed even to dilute the moral support.

He said he would rather see the satellites get their independence through peaceful "evolutionary" means.

Asked if this country felt that what happened between Russia and the satellites was strictly a Russian affair, Dulles didn't answer directly.

He said the Russians have told the United States the satellites are their business alone. He added that if Russia wanted this country's opinion — although it hasn't so far—the United States would be glad to give them.

This isn't how Dulles talked in the 1952 presidential campaign when he sounded so fiery about liberating the satellites that President Eisenhower, then the Republican candidate, stepped in with an explanation that Dulles didn't mean liberation by force.

Ever since Eisenhower won the election that year, Dulles has harped on the liberation theme. Recently, though, he has been softening his talk with suggestions about the "evolutionary" processes.

This means independence achieved peacefully instead of by revolt. And that in turn means Dulles is telling the satellites they'll have to work out their own problems.

There's apparently a fairly valid reason for the very cautious note Dulles has been sounding since the Poles defied the Russians and got some independence and the Hungarians defied them with open, internal warfare.

This is it:

This government and its European allies are worried that the Russian rulers, fearing their empire is disintegrating, might in desperate panic decde on sudden war.

Dulles was not only assuring them that this country didn't want war but, as he said, didn't even want a resumption of the cold war and didn't want the satellites, even if they were free, as American military allies.

The National Geographic Society was founded in 1888 "for the increase and diffusion of geographic knowledge."

Postoffice Plans Dec. 24 Delivery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postoffice Department says it will deliver before Christmas all the mail its employes can handle physically, even though Dec. 24 has been designated as a federal workers' holiday.

The department said the designation by President Eisenhower will not apply to "any postal employe whose services are needed to get the mail out."

Deliveries and postoffice hours will be on a normal basis Dec. 24. There will be no window service Christmas Day, but delivery of packages will be made that day.

How To Make Go Stay Eyed In Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — How to make Go stay is a problem occupying a lot of Toledoans these days.

Actually, Go doesn't want to leave, but the government says he must.

Go is Marcos Go, a Chinese citizens from Cebu City in the Phillippines now employed as a biochemist at St. Vincent's Hospital.

The 29-year-old Chinese came here as a student three years ago and has been working at the hospital for a year. His work has been such that hospital officials feel they can't get along without him.

Deportation proceedings began after Go applied for a permanent visa. That action automatically cancelled the student visa with which he came here.

A group of Americans now are trying to qualify him as an "alien whose services are urgently needed in the United States." A similar approach to the immigration laws kept Go's brother, Mateo, here as an engineer for a steel company.

2 Groups Named To Study Strike

COLUMBUS (AP)—House Speaker Roer Cloud (R-Logan) has appointed committees for legislative studies ordered as a result of the Portsmouth telephone strike.

He named Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr. (R-Hamilton) chairman of a committee to study laws designed to prevent interruption of utility services during strikes.

He also named Rep. Kenneth F. Berry (R-Coshocton) to study proposals for increasing police powers of the state highway patrol during utility strikers.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — How to make Go stay is a problem occupying a lot of Toledoans these days.

Actually, Go doesn't want to leave, but the government says he must.

Go is Marcos Go, a Chinese citizens from Cebu City in the Phillippines now employed as a biochemist at St. Vincent's Hospital.

The 29-year-old Chinese came here as a student three years ago and has been working at the hospital for a year. His work has been such that hospital officials feel they can't get along without him.

Deportation proceedings began after Go applied for a permanent visa. That action automatically cancelled the student visa with which he came here.

A group of Americans now are trying to qualify him as an "alien whose services are urgently needed in the United States." A similar approach to the immigration laws kept Go's brother, Mateo, here as an engineer for a steel company.

He also named Rep. Kenneth F. Berry (R-Coshocton) to study proposals for increasing police powers of the state highway patrol during utility strikers.

A Christmas Classic

(Clark Kinnaird, author, editor, historian and literary critic, tells the story of classic Christmas books in a series written especially for Central Press Association and this newspaper.)

* * * *

JAMES Jay Mapes was the chemist whose creative work with super-phosphates and other synthetic fertilizers did much to enable agricultural productivity to outrace world population increase.

His numerous achievements made him recognized as one of the great scientists of the 19th century. He was also a great parent.

Professor Mapes believed that children instinctively like good reading if they are fortunate enough to find it. At a time when most of the books published ostensibly for juveniles were largely dreary narrations or moralizations, Father Mapes took the time to guide his children to the discovery of the delightful vistas in the pages of Andersen, the Brothers Grimm, Sir Walter Scott, Shakespeare, the old ballads; and to stimulate their aspirations.

Two of his daughters developed remarkable musical ability and had successful careers as musical performers. A third daughter became an artist of recognized distinction on two continents. A son, Charles, rivaled his father's accomplishments in chemistry.

The fourth daughter, Mary Elizabeth, displayed a multiplicity of talents — music, painting, sculpture, linguistics. Before she exercised any of these fully, she married, at 20, William Dodge, a lawyer. He died seven years later, leaving her with two young boys, an expensive residence, and debts.

Mrs. Dodge disposed of the fine house and chose writing as a means by which she could earn a living in a modest cottage, while caring for her children. The literary taste her father had cultivated in her proved valuable then.

She improvised tales for children in story hours with her own boys, then offered them to magazines. Editors begged for more, and when there were enough to fill a book, a wider public became acquainted with her through the volume, entitled Irvington Stories.

The author got the inspiration for a longer story in reading John Lathrop Motley's newly published History of the United Netherlands.

Hans, Hilda and Gretel—one of the original illustrations for Hans Brinker, drawn by the celebrated 19th century artist, Felix O. C. Darley.

She resolved to make Holland the scene of a juvenile tale, and give youngsters as much of the thrilling background of that heroic little country as she could put naturally into a story.

The outcome was Hans Brinker; or, The Silver Skates, an immediate best-seller. It proved equally popular in England, and then there were translations into German, Italian, Russian, Spanish, French, Dutch. The French Academy gave it a prize, but the crowning tribute was the large success it had in Holland. Hans Brinker has remained a favorite with children around the world for nearly a century.

Mrs. Dodge was chosen to edit a newly established monthly for children, St. Nicholas, and continued in that post for 32 years. She made it the finest, best-remembered children's periodical in the world. She introduced in St. Nicholas, Frances Hodgson Burnett's Little Lord Fauntleroy, Thomas Nelson Page's Two Little Confederates, Mark Twain's Tom Sawyer Abroad, Rudyard Kipling's Jungle Book, and other stories remembered with affection by three generations of its readers.

An illustrated edition of Hans Brinker is published by Scribner. There is an anthology of memorable St. Nicholas magazine stories, illustrations and poetry (Random House).

4 Draft-Dodgers Plead Innocent

COLUMBUS (AP)—Appearing Wednesday in U. S. district court here, four young men accused of evasion of Selective Service calls, entered pleas of innocent and were released under $1,000 bonds each pending hearing of their cases.

They were John Edward Gallentine, 23, of Crestline; Kenneth Jordan, 22, of Mansfield; Jack Chapman, of Mansfield, and Lloyd Ebert, 26, of Lancaster.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Christmas turkey will cost the housewife about as much money as she shelled out last month for a Thanksgiving bird.

In the New York area it means 47 cents a pound for the smaller sizes and 43 cents in the 18 to 24-pound category.

Nearly every supermarket will be featuring hams alongside their turkeys. One chain spokesman noted that ham has come to be the best seller of all for New Year's Day.

A few chains this weekend will feature sirloin and porterhouse steaks at prices as much as 14 cents a pound below a week ago. In other sections, however, steaks were marked up 4 to 6 cents.

Lamb was 4 to 6 cents a pound cheaper in some places. Veal was slightly higher in scattered areas, while roast beef was both up and down.

Lower wholesale prices this week should mean a drop at the retail level shortly for eggs.

The Department of Agriculture expects eggs to be somewhat more numerous, and therefore cheaper, during the first half of 1957.

Potatoes and onions remained an outstanding buy at virtually all vetetable counters.

Both Western and nearby carrots are good buys, along with such greens as kale and collard, lettuce (especially the Western iceberg variety) and green squash from Southern fields. Spinach, cauliflower, tomatoes and corn are moderately priced in most places.

Lakes Shipping Season Ending

DETROIT (AP)—The Great Lakes shipping season will end Friday when the Sault Ste. Marie locks will be closed until next Spring, the Army Corps of Engineers announced Wednesday.

Ice conditions in the upper lakes dictated the closing date.

The ore carrier George Sloan of U. S. Steel Corp.'s Pittsburgh Steamship division is expected to be the last vessel to come down.

Pittsburgh steamship said Wednesday night that its 57 ships hauled 17,323,000 tons of ore during the season, compared with 23,500,00 tons in 1955.

Carry-Out Permit Freeze Ordered

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Liquor Control Board announced Wednesday it will issue no more beer or wine carry-out permits pending the outcome of a suit challenging the further issuance of certain types of permits.

The suit is now before the Second District Court of Appeals.

Suitcase Contains Odd Assortment

CINCINNATI (AP)—A suitcase was left at the Winton Station of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Wednesday. It contained:

A pair of falsies, a pair of Spanish handcuffs, a pair of high shoes and a wig.

The owner will find the suitcase and its contents at the police property room.

Thug Sought In Akron Is Shot By Cops

NEW YORK (AP)—A gunman reportedly wanted in Akron, Ohio, on homicide charges was taken to a hospital with five police bullets in him Wednesday after shooting a New York taxi driver in an attempted holdup, police reported.

Police identified him as Leroy Keith, 42, a Negro, said to be wanted in Akron on three homicide charges.

Keith, and James T. Morris, 22, of Riverhead, N. Y., were captured after trying to rob David Suro, 47, of the Bronx. They got into Suro's cab, police said, and ordered him to drive them uptown.

Suro deliberately drove into a cruising police car. As the two gunmen tried to escape, police said, Keith fired a shot into Suro's chest. He was reported in serious condition.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

SHORTCOMINGS in traffic regulations and in police protection on the highways of some states have resulted in trial balloons suggesting that federal aid for highway construction should be withheld in these cases. The proposal came from the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

The argument is that if the federal government can refuse road funds to states which meet specified design and engineering standards, it should be given a similar lever to raise police and safety standards. The objective is safety of the public in both instances.

The lag in safety on the nation's streets and highways is traced to the failure of state and municipal officials to take firm action. Aside from sitting back while traffic within their jurisdiction is without adequate police protection, some states seem to be insufficiently concerned over the accidents which do occur.

Statistical studies, necessary to provide a solid basis for safety efforts, are supplied to the National Safety Council by only 26 states. The argument is advanced that unless laggard states strengthen inadequate regulations, and have required police patrols, the miles of new superhighways to be constructed under the 1956 federal-aid highway act will result in higher fatality tolls.

The proposal that the federal government use its highway aid program as a weapon to enforce state and local compliance with the standards of highway safety it sets can only be construed as another threat to states' rights. But one way for the states to fend it off would be to bring their highway regulations and law enforcement programs up to present-day standards met by most states.

With proper controls, traffic need not be a killer and superhighways could be instruments for saving lives instead of adding to annual tolls.

U. S. MEETS AN EMERGENCY

IN PUTTING INTO effect the master plan for getting emergency oil supplies to Europe from the United States and Venezuela, the federal government again showed its capacity for cutting through restrictions to get a job done.

The particular restriction concerns monopolistic practices. In this instance 15 big oil companies will have to work together for a common purpose. Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, leading monopolistic watchdog, quickly raised the point that here is an opportunity for selfish collusion against the public interest.

The obvious answer was made. West Europe has a fuel crisis which saps its ability to perform its function, in cooperation with the U. S., to safeguard the free world. There is no choice but to get oil to Europe. And this is the only way it can be done.

Even then there are vast difficulties. Oil pipeline loads and tanker fleet routes have to be reassigned. Asian oil going to eastern U. S. ports will be rerouted to Europe while Gulf Coast and Venezuelan oil goes to the eastern seaboard. It is a dislocation of the supply machinery which will not be sorted out in a day but it will be done the more quickly by the government's plan.

Dean James A. Pike, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, recently wrote on the theology of Tin Pan Alley and he objects to much of it because the writers of the songs and lyrics want hit tunes which satisfy the tastes of their customers. However, it strikes me that it is better to sing wrong theology than not to sing at all.

Tin Pan Alley has at least this much humility: it has never called its output poetry but refers to it as lyrics, although I remember when they called it, words. 'Words and music," that was the phrase and at least it was half accurate.

The learned Dean's main objection is that these song writers seem to be contracting with God for something special, which has always been low-church theology and probably that is where the song writers get it.

For instance, the song "Somebody Up There Likes Me," is no worse, theologically, than 'Brighten the Corner Where You Are," which Billy Sunday and Homer Roadheaver made famous. Neither song could quite win a scholarship at Juilliard or at Tanglewood, to say nothing of a Pulitzer prize whose winners are rarely recalled.

Quite correctly, Dean Pike rejects the deals which are offered God by young people, as, for instance, "Give us this day and Thy commandments shall be done." There is no piety in that. It is a deal. It is what the politicians call a contract. You do for me and I shall do for you. Who is to deny that a deal is characteristic of our age? Duty is a word that seems to be forgotten and respect has given way before the ubiquitous democracy, which is a cover-all word meaning anything that anyone wants it to mean.

Dean Pike perhaps does not quite grasp the significance of television which enters the home for good and evil. As I write these words, I wander into the kitchen to steal a pear, out of turn and diet; our cook is at the television watching 'Hamlet."

I stayed a moment to see that it is a good performance and could not help thinking that it is better to see 'Hamlet" on television than not to know that it had ever been written. And that might be applied as well to these songs which bring God—even theologically untidily—to those who have not known God at all.

If the lure is success on Earth or pie in the sky, it must be noted that many preachers are no wiser than the song writers, for they too promise more than they can deliver and their churches are usually fuller than those who rigidly adhere to scholarly theology which the people never understand anyhow.

There are curious contradictions in this world, such as the man who objects to the employment of the symbolism of the Ten Commandments in a schoolroom because he believes in the separation of Church and State. Does he believe in the separation of school children from the Ten Commandments and if he does, what is his objection to juvenile delinquents?

I cannot guarantee that knowledge of the Ten Commandments safeguards a child from error, but surely ignorance of them does not help the child to live within the restraints of a moral life. Therefore this separation of Church and State advocate has not thought out his problem.

CHAPTER 20

WHEN John Perry got back to his house in Bickersteth Street, he shut and bolted the front door as was his custom and went upstairs. His breathing was a little quicker than usual and he was possessed by an excitement of conquest.

Although it was still light in the street, light and hot and summery, he lit the used candles in silver George II candlesticks which stood on the mantelshelf in the living-room. He changed into soft, shabby carpet slippers and, as he took his walking shoes into the kitchen and placed them neatly behind the door, he glanced at them with irritated contempt. He looked forward to the day when he would have three pairs, each hand-made by a West End bootmaker. Clothes of the same standard, too. But the shoes would be the chief thing and he would be known in the discreet circle in which he moved as the man who wore impeccable shoes.

He went back into the living-room and settled into one of the Queen Anne armchairs which stood on either side of the empty fireplace. He sat there quite still, his hands folded in his lap, and let the excitement carry him where he wanted to go.

It was upsetting meeting strangers like the gentleman in Shepley Arms that evening. Upsetting and somehow dangerous. Nevertheless it represented a success. The gentleman had been a connoisseur, a man connected with rich patrons of the arts, a man who wrote books and knew about porcelain—a man of the artistic world, in fact—and he had talked to him, John Perry, as an equal.

That gentleman in the public-house belonged to the world in which he coveted a place, his due place, a world in which hand-made shoes would be unobtrusively noticed and their owner correspondingly elevated in status. True, that world was difficult to enter. Perry felt the muscles of his throat contract for a moment as he thought of the danger, the difficulty of meeting people who were initially hostile: the danger of making a slip in speech, the difficulty of making them aware of his true worth.

His mind swerved round the dangers and played warmly with the path of achievement. It was a comfortable and always rewarding speculation, one that was well detailed from constant repetition, one perennially exciting because it led to the summit of all endeavour.

He would be taken one day into an exclusive club in St. James's Street—taken perhaps by the gentleman in the Shepley Arms. (Never before had he seen the means of introduction so clearly outlined and so almost immediately possible.) They would sit round the fireplace in the sitting-room, a group of them, five or six of them, at any rate not more than seven, all faultlessly dressed.

They would sip sherry while they made brilliant and sarcastic conversation. He himself would take little share in the dialogue, part of which would be about the scandalous actresses and noblemen of the day and part of which would be a searching analysis of modern art. Now and then one of the well-dressed men would turn to him and ask his opinion, bringing him into the conversation for the sake of courtesy. He would answer quietly, keeping a dignified reserve, yet showing that he had firm convictions.

Once or twice he would enter the conversation on his own, making a profound observation, capping another's comment with a witty remark. Gradually the other men would turn more to him, interested in him. He would rise to take his leave. They would press him to stay, to take another glass of sherry. But he would be gently firm. He would collect his hat and gloves and walking-stick, stand on the steps of the Club for a moment, then saunter in the sunlight down St. James's street.

A week later he would be invited to dine. He would cancel another invitation in order to accept. And he could visualize so well what had happened in the interval. After he had left the Club there would have been a moment of silence. Then one of the older men would have turned to the man who introduced him and asked the name of his quiet, reserved friend. They would discuss him, recalling his comments, pointing out to each other the dignified wit and profundity of them. They would decide to see more of the stranger to their circle.

So he would dine with them. Later, when the conversation was flowing freely with the port and sherry, he would bring the talk round to ancient Rome, displaying agreeably and modestly an unusual knowledge of his subject.

His meditations expanded and became warmer. One day one of the members of that circle would ask his opinion of a piece of furniture. He would give it, correcting, and rightly correcting, an earlier opinion given by an eminent Cambridge scholar. He would become quietly famous for the excellence of his judgment. In the end he would be invited to join that club in St. James's Street.

He would become a respected, much sought-after, member. He would be invited to country houses. He would be someone.

Casson too was speculating. He busied himself in developing his original thesis. He had imagined that Perry collected antiques in order to build a silent world of valuable possessions in which he was the sole emperor. But now Casson took Perry's interest in Roman sculpture as a starting point for a new development. Perry admired the Romans. He would admire their cold selfishness, their humourless restraint.

Casson realized that he was making Perry's admiration of Lockyer's Roman bust the pivot of his creation of Perry's character. But it might have been nothing more than an isolated incident, and until he got inside Perry's house and saw what was in the rest of the collection—if there were a collection—he could be no wiser.

At that moment Perry reached the fullness of his dream. He got up, licked his thumb and forefinger, and snuffed the candle-flames. He went into the back room on the first floor and got his supper, eating it at the plain wood table by the window. It was a simple meal of pilchards, onions, bread and cheese, and a glass of milk. While eating, he read a chapter of Walter Pater's Renaissance. Before the daylight broke down completely and made it necessary to switch on the electric light, he prepared for bed in his room on the second floor. When he was undressed, and before he went to bed, he knelt, removed a loose skirting-board, and felt behind to make sure that the tin box in which he kept his pound notes was safe and untouched. Then he got into the old, brass-knobbed bedstead and lay down flat on his back, his hands clasped across his chest.

Casson visits Perry's home in tomorrow's thrilling chapter of Small Venom.

Science Needs Our Help To Aid Retarded Child

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ABOUT three children out of every 100 born are destined to be mentally retarded—an estimated 120,000 a year. About 4,800,000 children and adults alike suffer from mental retardation. That's about three per cent of our entire population.

Mental retardation is ten times more common than crippling polio. It is over four times more common than permanent rheumatic heart conditions and it is 15 times as prevalent as blindness.

Pretty startling statistics, aren't they?

Real Problem

Vast as this problem is, it goes virtually unrecognized by the general public. Yet for some 10,000,000 persons—the mentally retarded, their parents, brothers and sisters—it is indeed a very real problem.

Jack Benny, who is Honorary Fund Drive Chairman for the National Association for Retarded Children, asked me—and other health writers—to mention the problem during November when the Association was conducting its annual campaign for funds.

Research Needed

His request arrived too late for me to include it in any of last month's columns. But I'm glad it did. For funds are needed to conduct research into this tremendous problem all year long. We can't do enough in a single month-long period.

In many cases mental retardation probably could be prevented. Yet, pitifully little research is being done in this field.

We know some of the causes. In fact, there are about 70 known or suspected diseases or mishaps occurring either before or during birth or during early childhood which are linked to mental retardation.

German measles, hepatitis and various other diseases which strike a mother during pregnancy may be connected with retardation of the baby.

Cases of long and difficult labor or very rapid delivery carry a higher percentage of defective children than average deliveries do.

Childhood Diseases

Childhood accidents and diseases such as whooping cough, measles, chicken pox, polio and meningitis can cause the condition if inflammation of the brain result.

So help science lick another great medical problem.

While you're in a generous Christmas mood, think about the good work being done by the National Association for Retarded Children. You can reach them at 99 University Place, New York 3, New York.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B.M.: Can any disease other than rheumatic fever cause a child's sedimentation rate to go up?

Answer: Yes, many infectious diseases can cause the sedimentation rate to rise.

A Dream And $50 Million

By HAL BOYLE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"It's nice sometimes to find that dreams really can come true," said the blue-eyed, middle-aged lady, looking down from the balcony to the sun-worshipers on the beach.

"Yeah," said her husband, comonarch of all they surveyed, except the ocean itself.

They are Al and Sadye Tisch who, with their two sons, Larry, 33, and Bob, 30, in a single decade have become the "world's largest family resort owners."

Their dream come true is the fabulous $17 million Americana, Florida's "hotel of the year."

The building is a 15-floor luxury symbol of the postwar prosperity spree that has come to the United States and to a family—the four Tisches. It is the House That Jack Built, and there's more jack where it came from.

Ten years ago Al, a former New York City College basketball player, and his wife wearied a bit from their chores in running two enterprises—a prosperous clothing business and a successful children's camp. They like their sons, were interested in the hotel field.

"We came to Florida in 1946, but we couldn't make the right deal," said Sadye, who is vivacious and does the talking for the elder branch of the family.

"Yeah," said Al, who is balding, silent and friendly.

So they picked up the $1 million or so they had to invest and began buying hotels elsewhere—Laurel-in-the-Pines in New Jersey, the Belmont Plaza in New York, the Traymore and Ambassador in Atlantic City, and some six other properties. Whatever they touched turned to gold, or, if it didn't they got rid of it quick.

"But we still had Florida sand in our shoes," said Sadye. "We kept coming back to our first dream. For a while we were afraid that Miami Beach was overbuilt, oversold, and overcrowded. But year after year we checked, and found that more and more people were coming here. Do you know seven million people visited Florida last year?"

"Yeah," said Al.

In the spring of 1955 they bought a 10-acre site here, a 650-foot beachfront, and 17 months and $17 million later they had the Americana Hotel.

The original $1 million or so they started with has been parlayed into properties which the Tisches themselves value at $50 million or more.

Have the Tisches gone mad in a luxury-mad world? Isn't their magnificent hostelry one step too much — even for Miami Beach, the frontier of the frantic dollar?

"No," said Sadye, "the surface of the prosperity here has been barely scratched, in spite of all the hotels that have gone up since the war ended."

"I don't understand it myself," said Al. "Before we even had a guest in the place we were offered 10 million more than we had put into it."

"It's comfortable," said Sadye. "It's our dream come true."

TRAFFIC CONTROL

SHORTCOMINGS in traffic regulations and in police protection on the highways of some states have resulted in trial balloons suggesting that federal aid for highway construction should be withheld in these cases. The proposal came from the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

The argument is that if the federal government can refuse road funds to states which meet specified design and engineering standards, it should be given a similar lever to raise police and safety standards. The objective is safety of the public in both instances.

The lag in safety on the nation's streets and highways is traced to the failure of state and municipal officials to take firm action. Aside from sitting back while traffic within their jurisdiction is without adequate police protection, some states seem to be insufficiently concerned over the accidents which do occur.

Statistical studies, necessary to provide a solid basis for safety efforts, are supplied to the National Safety Council by only 26 states. The argument is advanced that unless laggard states strengthen inadequate regulations, and have required police patrols, the miles of new superhighways to be constructed under the 1956 federal-aid highway act will result in higher fatality tolls.

The proposal that the federal government use its highway aid program as a weapon to enforce state and local compliance with the standards of highway safety it sets can only be construed as another threat to states' rights. But one way for the states to fend it off would be to bring their highway regulations and law enforcement programs up to present-day standards met by most states.

With proper controls, traffic need not be a killer and superhighways could be instruments for saving lives instead of adding to annual tolls.

U. S. MEETS AN EMERGENCY

IN PUTTING INTO effect the master plan for getting emergency oil supplies to Europe from the United States and Venezuela, the federal government again showed its capacity for cutting through restrictions to get a job done.

The particular restriction concerns monopolistic practices. In this instance 15 big oil companies will have to work together for a common purpose. Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, leading monopolistic watchdog, quickly raised the point that here is an opportunity for selfish collusion against the public interest.

The obvious answer was made. West Europe has a fuel crisis which saps its ability to perform its function, in cooperation with the U. S., to safeguard the free world. There is no choice but to get oil to Europe. And this is the only way it can be done.

Even then there are vast difficulties. Oil pipeline loads and tanker fleet routes have to be reassigned. Asian oil going to eastern U. S. ports will be rerouted to Europe while Gulf Coast and Venezuelan oil goes to the eastern seaboard. It is a dislocation of the supply machinery which will not be sorted out in a day but it will be done the more quickly by the government's plan.

A commentary on the length of time required to restore the Suez Canal is contained in the estimate that it may be necessary to renew the program to supply Europe on March 31.

You're Telling Me!

Whatever became of that class in the study of humor, which was established by a western school some years back? The man at the next desk thinks it probably was just laughed out of existence.

Unless we're mistaken we saw the first robin of 1957 or the last one of 1956 today. Then again, it could have been just a sparrow in red flannels.

See where someone shot a panther by means of a bow and arrow. That definitely is a unique way of putting the cat out.

Adventuresome folk who take up the sport of skiing should have strong ankles, says an expert. A complete set of unbreakable arms and legs wouldn't be a handicap, either.

Grizzly bears sometimes grow to nine feet in length — Factographs. Just half that would be far too much.

"Geologists Plan to Hold Conference"—headline. What for, asks Zadok Dumkopf, just to dish a lot of dirt?

According to a nature item the guillemots, murres and lomvias are all Arctic birds. Naturally — since you'd have to be an Eskimo to be able to pronounce 'em!

gags that are revived regularly every semester? 1. "I hear you neck." "Pardon me, I'll be more quiet next time." 2. "Anybody here seen a fellow with a bad eye named Percival?" "We're not sure but it would help if you'd tell us the name of his good eye." 3. (on the phone) "Hello, are you Harry?" "No, ma'am, I'm partly bald." Class dismissed!

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Keith Conrad, Walnut St., returned home after a motor trip to New York.

Don Hill, stationed at a U. S. Navy base in Florida, spent a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hill, Northridge Rd.

Mrs. Walter Heine, chairman, reported that the First Methodist Church's Women's Society of Christian Service had collected eight boxes of clothing, destined to be sent to Korean children.

TEN YEARS AGO

William A. Ammer, Pleasant St., and David L. Jackson, N. Scioto St., received degrees at Ohio State University, Columbus.

David Orr arrived here from Kenyon College to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother, Mrs. Howard A. Orr, S. Court St.

Howard N. Stevenson, Circleville Route 3, visited in Cincinnati.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A barn and a large quantity of farm produce were destroyed by fire on the Dunlap farm in Pickaway Township.

Circleville High school basketballers were defeated 25 to 15 by Chillicothe in a contest played on the winners' hardwood.

City police reported that several northend homes were burglarized.

Try, Stop Me

It was a student at an agricultural school who told me the reason why the cow jumped over the moon. The farmer, it seems, had icy fingers. Another undergrad, well versed in bebop, recalled the feudal Lord Ethrid, who complained, "Every lord but me in England has a moat around his castle. I want two built—and I want them fast." Ethrid's serfs (no relations) refused at first, but found a company of bow-and-arrow boys mighty persuasive. "Okay," conceded the serfs, "we dig you the moats."

Science Needs Our Help To Aid Retarded Child

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ABOUT three children out of every 100 born are destined to be mentally retarded—an estimated 120,000 a year. About 4,800,000 children and adults alike suffer from mental retardation. That's about three per cent of our entire population.

Mental retardation is ten times more common than crippling polio. It is over four times more common than permanent rheumatic heart conditions and it is 15 times as prevalent as blindness.

Pretty startling statistics, aren't they?

Real Problem

Vast as this problem is, it goes virtually unrecognized by the general public. Yet for some 10,000,000 persons—the mentally retarded, their parents, brothers and sisters—it is indeed a very real problem.

Jack Benny, who is Honorary Fund Drive Chairman for the National Association for Retarded Children, asked me—and other health writers—to mention the problem during November when the Association was conducting its annual campaign for funds.

Research Needed

His request arrived too late for me to include it in any of last month's columns. But I'm glad it did. For funds are needed to conduct research into this tremendous problem all year long. We can't do enough in a single month-long period.

In many cases mental retardation probably could be prevented. Yet, pitifully little research is being done in this field.

We know some of the causes. In fact, there are about 70 known or suspected diseases or mishaps occurring either before or during birth or during early childhood which are linked to mental retardation.

German measles, hepatitis and various other diseases which strike a mother during pregnancy may be connected with retardation of the baby.

Cases of long and difficult labor or very rapid delivery carry a higher percentage of defective children than average deliveries do.

Childhood Diseases

Childhood accidents and diseases such as whooping cough, measles, chicken pox, polio and meningitis can cause the condition if inflammation of the brain result.

So help science lick another great medical problem.

While you're in a generous Christmas mood, think about the good work being done by the National Association for Retarded Children. You can reach them at 99 University Place, New York 3, New York.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B.M.: Can any disease other than rheumatic fever cause a child's sedimentation rate to go up?

Answer: Yes, many infectious diseases can cause the sedimentation rate to rise.

A Dream And $50 Million

By HAL BOYLE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"It's nice sometimes to find that dreams really can come true," said the blue-eyed, middle-aged lady, looking down from the balcony to the sun-worshipers on the beach.

"Yeah," said her husband, comonarch of all they surveyed, except the ocean itself.

They are Al and Sadye Tisch who, with their two sons, Larry, 33, and Bob, 30, in a single decade have become the "world's largest family resort owners."

Their dream come true is the fabulous $17 million Americana, Florida's "hotel of the year."

The building is a 15-floor luxury symbol of the postwar prosperity spree that has come to the United States and to a family—the four Tisches. It is the House That Jack Built, and there's more jack where it came from.

Ten years ago Al, a former New York City College basketball player, and his wife wearied a bit from their chores in running two enterprises—a prosperous clothing business and a successful children's camp. They like their sons, were interested in the hotel field.

"We came to Florida in 1946, but we couldn't make the right deal," said Sadye, who is vivacious and does the talking for the elder branch of the family.

"Yeah," said Al, who is balding, silent and friendly.

So they picked up the $1 million or so they had to invest and began buying hotels elsewhere—Laurel-in-the-Pines in New Jersey, the Belmont Plaza in New York, the Traymore and Ambassador in Atlantic City, and some six other properties. Whatever they touched turned to gold, or, if it didn't they got rid of it quick.

"But we still had Florida sand in our shoes," said Sadye. "We kept coming back to our first dream. For a while we were afraid that Miami Beach was overbuilt, oversold, and overcrowded. But year after year we checked, and found that more and more people were coming here. Do you know seven million people visited Florida last year?"

"Yeah," said Al.

In the spring of 1955 they bought a 10-acre site here, a 650-foot beachfront, and 17 months and $17 million later they had the Americana Hotel.

The original $1 million or so they started with has been parlayed into properties which the Tisches themselves value at $50 million or more.

Have the Tisches gone mad in a luxury-mad world? Isn't their magnificent hostelry one step too much — even for Miami Beach, the frontier of the frantic dollar?

"No," said Sadye, "the surface of the prosperity here has been barely scratched, in spite of all the hotels that have gone up since the war ended."

"I don't understand it myself," said Al. "Before we even had a guest in the place we were offered 10 million more than we had put into it."

"It's comfortable," said Sadye. "It's our dream come true."

Gal's Femininity Aided By Daily Use Of Perfume

It is for sure Santa will be gifting many a gal with perfume. It is a luxury present, one most women welcome.

If you are among the fortunate ones and receive a big bottle of your favorite fragrance for Christmas, we have a few words of advice:

Do not hoard it!

So many women make that mistake. They open the perfume, but use it for only the most special occasions. It sometimes happens — if the perfume is stored close to a radiator or in sunlight—that the alcohol content evaporates and the delicate balance of oils is thrown off, spoiling the fragrance. In short, it is wasted.

Perfume should be used, and not just once a week on date night, either. It is meant to be applied daily, because it makes such a pleasing contribution to a gal's famininity.

Get into the fragrance habit. If you are married, who is more important than your husband?

If you are single, remember perfume has powers of attraction. Men are quick to comment on a lovely fragrance.

Do not go overboard and apply too much perfume or choose a heavy scent. That is worse than wearing no perfume at all. Hit a happy medium. Light is right with fragrance.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Does a marriage in which the woman is 11 years older than the man, have the same chance for lasting happiness as one where the man is that much older than the woman?

I know society frowns on a couple marrying when the woman is that much older; but I am interested in getting the opinions of psychologists on the subject.

I am 35, and very much attracted to a man who is nearly 25. We have dated some, but due to the age difference I haven't let him know just how much I really care. He has been very attentive; and I believe that he, too, cares more than he revealed to me.

This is my first experience of dating a man so much younger, and he was a long time trying to date me before I consented.

People are always surprised to learn how old I am; and I feel perfectly at ease around younger persons. I am considered attractive, am often complimented on my good taste in clothes, and I keep up with what goes on in the world. I am active in sports and especially like swimming.

About 10 years ago I was very much in love with a man who died; and since that time I haven't been seriously attracted to anyone, until now.

I am jealous of John—I'll call him—and was very much upset, once, when I saw him with another girl. But I am not sure that I am in love with him, or if I was only suddenly afraid that my years are slipping away.

Precisely what I want to know is: Can a woman who looks and feels younger than her age, find lasting happiness with a man 11 years her junior?

D. E.

DEAR D.E.: Your question indicates a belief on your part that "lasting happiness" is more or less assured if the husband is older than the wife. But if that were the case, surely a great many married people would be happy (for life) who aren't.

Although the predominant practise of humankind is to pair off males with slightly younger maidens, in launching new households, there never has been any guarantee—so far as I know—that this is the basic Rx for durable happiness.

In all probability, most men marry slightly younger brides, for the simple reason that all the attractive older women in sight are already married. Winsome women who want marriage usually marry early, and the leftovers (in the main) are undesirables, from a man's view, maybe. Thus a new crop of marriageable males feels obliged to hunt for brides in the still younger-age group.

However, there is always the exceptional case. And society affords various notable examples to prove that men and women of exceptionally interesting personality—intelligent, cultivated, self reliant—who have a great deal more than simply good bodies to bring to a love relationship, may be happy in marriage for a lifetime together, despite the age difference you mention.

Of course, these same exceptional individuals might have been even more pleased with each other—who knows?—if the man had been some years older than his wife.

But such speculation aside, he distinguished 19th century poets Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning afford a classic instance of the exceptional pair, happily married in candid disregard of the wife's senior age. In our day the upper brackets of fame and there are simiar achievements, in fortune—but perhaps the principals would prefer that we don't mention their names; so we won't.

Now, my answer to your question is: there is no sure-fire approach to lasting happiness, except your own capacity to enjoy life. Happiness is a very personal achievement, akin to health. It has to flow from your own disposition and constitution; and it needs to be refreshed by your own attitudes, exercises, resources, intelligence, etc. Others can't "make" you happy—but it is conceivable that a wrong associate might become a serious drain on your health and happiness. That's a possibility to guard against; and an error to correct, if it ever develops.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

The department of archaeology of the Ohio State Museum are now certain that there was a group of early Indians in this region about 800 to 1000 A. D., who were not of the Adena or the Hopewell Culture, and were living in Pickaway County in great numbers during the same periods.

Named because of their burial practices, they have been called the Glacial Kame Indians.

Last October, one of Replogle's great power tools, working on the Route 23 project west of Circleville, skimmed off the top of a Glacial Kame burial pit. Realizing they had uncovered something of prehistoric significance, the operators left the great pile of glacial gravel, in which the burial pit had been dug by these ancient Pickaway Countians, until Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of archeology of the Ohio State Museum, could examine and photograph the find.

According to the outline of the blood-red iron oxide or ocher with which these early folk covered the remains of their loved ones or distinguished tribesmen, the pit was about 3½ to 4 feet in circumference and about that deep. How many skeletons had been interred could not be determined, but there was sufficient evidence in the pile of bones to establish the fact that both adults and children of both male and female had been buried there.

There have been a number of instances of finding such burials of this Culture in Pickaway County, but this is the first time that a scientific investigation had been made of such a find.

The Glacial Kame Indians were probably contemporaries of our late Adena groups and may have been around even in the days of the Hopewells, who, as you know, builded the Circleville Works. So far as is known, they lived in the greatest numbers in the north eastern part of Indiana, north western Ohio and in the very southern section of Michigan.

Since so few items are buried with their dead, it is an indication that these people were of a hunting and wild food-gathering economy. Nothing of any significance in the way of pottery has been found and only a few ornaments of copper, shell and slate. There have been unearthed some bone awls, celts made of copper and chipped-stone projectilve points, shaped like a triangle, with broad square stems and horitzontal shoulders.

Quite a few pipes have been fund, indicating they were smokers—of what we don't know. They may have stayed long enough in one spot to raise some tobacco or they could have used some other weed, which satisfied their smoking desires.

It is such finds as this one west of Circleville, which incites our trained scientists the most. There is just enough material found at these sites to arouse interest and yet not enough for conclusive proof.

Ample evidence has been found, however, which would indicate there were still roving, game-hunting bands of these early people here at the same time our County was heavily populated by a people of probably the same origin, but who actually farmed the land and lived a sedentary life in established communities, had a well-organized society, with a system of rules, regulations and ceremonial practices, and were capable of building great works—like the Circle and the Square of old Roundtown, which our forebears were in such a heck of a hurry to get rid of.

Mother Is Freed In Slaying Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pretty, 25-year-old mother who fatally shot her husband alternately wept and smiled her relief Wednesday night when a jury found her innocent of a first degree manslaughter charge.

Rising from her chair, Mrs. Kathryn Trosper hugged defense attorney A. H. Dudnik who presented her argument that she shot her husband in self defense.

Mrs. Trosper, who was six months pregnant at the time, testified her husband had punched her in the stomach and threatened to kill her.

Yuletide Clemency Granted To Dogs

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—All dogs at the Tulsa city pound have been granted a stay of execution until after Christmas.

Mayor George Norvell said clemency will be granted to about 50 dogs scheduled to die in the gas chamber. Homes will be sought for all the animals, he said.

Western College Trustee Named

OXFORD (AP)—President Herrick B. Young Wednesday announced the appointment of Lewis Clark Thomson of Hamilton as a member of the executive committee of the board of trustees of Western College for Women.

Thomson will succeed Dr. Claude Lotspeich of Cincinnati, who resigned in October. The new committee member is a vice president of the Champion Paper Co.

553 To Get Diplomas At OSU Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A graduating class of 553 will step to the rostrum to receive their diplomas today at Ohio State University's Autumn quarter commencement in the school's new St. John arena.

Among the graduates are John W. Hudson, Highland Park, Mich., blind since 1939, who will receive a doctor of philosophy degree 'summa cum laude;" and Donald I. Johnson, New London, who is to be posthumously, awarded a degree in aeronautical engineering. Johnson died Nov. 10 at the age of 23.

Heading the list of 21 OSU seniors who will be graduated with high scholastic honors are two Air Force officers—both combat veterans.

They are Maj. Robert E. Georgas, Salina, Kan., a veteran of Guam, Iwo Jima and Korea; and Capt. Joseph A. Smith, Jr., Goldsboro, N. C., a B-17 pilot in the European theater of operations during World War II.

Georges, 35, is a general business major, and Smith, 32, majored in accounting.

General Telephone, Union OK Contract

MARION (AP)—Union and company officials report that members of the Communications Workers of America have ratified a new contract with the General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

General Telephone serves approximately 10,000 subscribers in 62 Ohio counties.

The agreement retains a clause providing for maintenance of union membership, eight paid holidays, premium pay for work on Christmas and New Year's eves, for night work and for callouts on holidays, for arbitration of disputes, and a no strike clause.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

The department of archaeology of the Ohio State Museum are now certain that there was a group of early Indians in this region about 800 to 1000 A. D., who were not of the Adena or the Hopewell Culture, and were living in Pickaway County in great numbers during the same periods.

Named because of their burial practices, they have been called the Glacial Kame Indians.

Last October, one of Replogle's great power tools, working on the Route 23 project west of Circleville, skimmed off the top of a Glacial Kame burial pit. Realizing they had uncovered something of prehistoric significance, the operators left the great pile of glacial gravel, in which the burial pit had been dug by these ancient Pickaway Countians, until Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of archeology of the Ohio State Museum, could examine and photograph the find.

According to the outline of the blood-red iron oxide or ocher with which these early folk covered the remains of their loved ones or distinguished tribesmen, the pit was about 3½ to 4 feet in circumference and about that deep. How many skeletons had been interred could not be determined, but there was sufficient evidence in the pile of bones to establish the fact that both adults and children of both male and female had been buried there.

There have been a number of instances of finding such burials of this Culture in Pickaway County, but this is the first time that a scientific investigation had been made of such a find.

The Glacial Kame Indians were probably contemporaries of our late Adena groups and may have been around even in the days of the Hopewells, who, as you know, builded the Circleville Works. So far as is known, they lived in the greatest numbers in the north eastern part of Indiana, north western Ohio and in the very southern section of Michigan.

Since so few items are buried with their dead, it is an indication that these people were of a hunting and wild food-gathering economy. Nothing of any significance in the way of pottery has been found and only a few ornaments of copper, shell and slate. There have been unearthed some bone awls, celts made of copper and chipped-stone projectilve points, shaped like a triangle, with broad square stems and horitzontal shoulders.

Quite a few pipes have been fund, indicating they were smokers—of what we don't know. They may have stayed long enough in one spot to raise some tobacco or they could have used some other weed, which satisfied their smoking desires.

It is such finds as this one west of Circleville, which incites our trained scientists the most. There is just enough material found at these sites to arouse interest and yet not enough for conclusive proof.

Ample evidence has been found, however, which would indicate there were still roving, game-hunting bands of these early people here at the same time our County was heavily populated by a people of probably the same origin, but who actually farmed the land and lived a sedentary life in established communities, had a well-organized society, with a system of rules, regulations and ceremonial practices, and were capable of building great works—like the Circle and the Square of old Roundtown, which our forebears were in such a heck of a hurry to get rid of.

Mother Is Freed In Slaying Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pretty, 25-year-old mother who fatally shot her husband alternately wept and smiled her relief Wednesday night when a jury found her innocent of a first degree manslaughter charge.

Rising from her chair, Mrs. Kathryn Trosper hugged defense attorney A. H. Dudnik who presented her argument that she shot her husband in self defense.

Mrs. Trosper, who was six months pregnant at the time, testified her husband had punched her in the stomach and threatened to kill her.

Yuletide Clemency Granted To Dogs

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—All dogs at the Tulsa city pound have been granted a stay of execution until after Christmas.

Mayor George Norvell said clemency will be granted to about 50 dogs scheduled to die in the gas chamber. Homes will be sought for all the animals, he said.

Western College Trustee Named

OXFORD (AP)—President Herrick B. Young Wednesday announced the appointment of Lewis Clark Thomson of Hamilton as a member of the executive committee of the board of trustees of Western College for Women.

Thomson will succeed Dr. Claude Lotspeich of Cincinnati, who resigned in October. The new committee member is a vice president of the Champion Paper Co.

553 To Get Diplomas At OSU Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A graduating class of 553 will step to the rostrum to receive their diplomas today at Ohio State University's Autumn quarter commencement in the school's new St. John arena.

Among the graduates are John W. Hudson, Highland Park, Mich., blind since 1939, who will receive a doctor of philosophy degree 'summa cum laude;" and Donald I. Johnson, New London, who is to be posthumously, awarded a degree in aeronautical engineering. Johnson died Nov. 10 at the age of 23.

Heading the list of 21 OSU seniors who will be graduated with high scholastic honors are two Air Force officers—both combat veterans.

They are Maj. Robert E. Georgas, Salina, Kan., a veteran of Guam, Iwo Jima and Korea; and Capt. Joseph A. Smith, Jr., Goldsboro, N. C., a B-17 pilot in the European theater of operations during World War II.

Georges, 35, is a general business major, and Smith, 32, majored in accounting.

General Telephone, Union OK Contract

MARION (AP)—Union and company officials report that members of the Communications Workers of America have ratified a new contract with the General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

General Telephone serves approximately 10,000 subscribers in 62 Ohio counties.

The agreement retains a clause providing for maintenance of union membership, eight paid holidays, premium pay for work on Christmas and New Year's eves, for night work and for callouts on holidays, for arbitration of disputes, and a no strike clause.

Nelsonville Shoe Merchant Plays Top Role In Capitol

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of five articles dealing with the people and problems as the Republican party next month takes over sole control of the state government for the first time in 28 years.

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The day William McKinley was 50 years old, another staunch Republican was born in the hills of southeastern Ohio.

Today the other staunch Republican is one of Ohio's most powerful political figures—Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, a mild-mannered, loose - jointed shoe merchant whom the political sharpies long since have ceased to regard as a hick from the hills.

The city-trained lawmakers and lobbyists don't even notice "Uncle Stan's" drawl anymore, for they are acutely aware he has the shrewd eye of a New England horse trader and is a whiz on state money problems.

Stan Mechem first came from his Nelsonville home to serve in the Ohio Senate in 1943 at the start of John W. Bricker's last term as governor. He came to Columbus with a deep admiration of his boyhood hero — the martyred President McKinley—whose birthday he shared. He still retains that admiration, no doubt fostered by the late Sen. Robert Pollock, Canton Republican, who spoke often and lovingly of McKinley.

But to apply the tag of "McKinley Republican" to Sen. Mechem would be loose name-calling, for that tag implies the person on whom it is pinned hasn't changed his ideas since 1901 when the Niles, Ohio, native fell before an assassin's bullet.

True, no one is likely ever to dub this man who calls the turn in the upper house of the Ohio Legislature a radical. And it is true some of his fellow-Republicans from Ohio's big cities may be farther to the left than he. His record in the inner workings of the Senate shows he shuns reaction just as he does radicalism. If he can be classified, he probably belongs in the broad slot labeled "conservative."

Sen. Mechem probably is the most conservative of the three Republican men who will be steering the state government after Jan. 14. But he worked well and harmoniously with House Speaker Roger Cloud during the 1955 session of the General Assembly. And he admires Gov.-elect C. William O'Neill, a former House speaker who hails from Marietta, also in southeastern Ohio.

Mechem at 63 (he'll be 64 Jan. 29) will be starting his third session as majority leader Jan. 7. He is a firm believer in the axiom: "Make haste slowly."

As majority leader, he holds the traditional companion post, the chairmanship of the all-powerful rules committee. That committee receives bills from other committees as they are reported back favorably to the Senate after hearings and study. The rules committee then places the bills on the Senate calendar for a floor vote—or it doesn't.

Scores of bills die each session because the rules committee fails to put them on the calendar. Mechem has a simple formula:

"Unless I know I've got the votes (to pass the measure), it doesn't go on the calendar."

So effective was this formula in the 1955 session that not a single bill was defeated on the floor of the Senate. If it got on the calendar, it was approved by the Senate.

By his very nature, the tall spare Senate leader is no bully-boy; he never brandishes his great power like a club. He fancies himself, rather, as a peacemaker. Some of the truces he patches up between warring factions of his own party sometimes come unglued, but they stick long enough to take care of the business at hand—which generally is to determine party policy on a bill.

And, as more than one senator has observed privately, when you can operate that way, you don't need a club.

Fine For Lawyer Lifted By Court

COLUMBUS (AP)—An attorney who said he arrived at a Zanesville court late because of car trouble, was excused from paying a $100 contempt of court fine by the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday.

The lawyer, Robert Dow Hamilton of Columbus, was fined by Common Pleas Court Judge Clarence J. Crossland, Zanesville, for being 40 minutes late for a workmen's compensation case in which Hamilton was counsel.

The Supreme Court reversed the fine, saying the "trial court was not free from error."

White Army Sergeant OKs NAACP Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A white Army Sergeant and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People were lined up today with two Negroes who claim two off-duty policemen brutally beat them because they were drinking with the white.

Army Sgt. John Coleman told an investigating officer the two patrolmen tried to start a fight because he and the Negroes were drinking together in a cafe. He said he left the cafe after one patrolman hit him.

The NAACP challenged the patrolmen, Peter J. Hotz and Edward Shaniuk, to take lie detector tests about their statements that the Negroes attacked them.

The Negores, Rober Barbee, 30, and Army Sgt. Herman Humphries, 26, said the patrolmen took them to the police station and beat them to the floor while other police looked on. They were charged with assault and battery and intoxication.

Hotz and Shaniuk have been charged with neglect of duty and Safety Director John N. McCormich said they would be further charged with conduct unbecoming police officers.

College Teacher Pay Boost Urged

COLUMBUS (AP)—A one-third salary boost for Ohio's college teachers was called for Wednesday in a report by the Council of State Universities of Ohio.

The council represents Miami University, Ohio University, Kent State, Bowling Green, Central State and Ohio State Universities, all members of the American Assn. of University Professors.

Businessmen Join Drive For Road Safety

Holiday Weekend Seen Bringing Peak Toll In Accidental Deaths

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — With the office party season coming to its annual climax today and Friday many businessmen are joining law enforcement groups in the drive to hold down traffic deaths in the coming long weekend.

There are around 72 million Americans who drive cars. The majority of them will be on the streets and highways at some time during the period between Friday evening and Tuesday midnight. The Christmas holidays usually see the year's peak of traffic fatalities.

The trend last year and this has been to put a brake on the office Christmas parties which have often had traffic accidents as aftermaths.

Segments of the liquor industry are appealing for temperance before driving and have a tie-in with the coffee industry to urge that drivers make a cup of coffee their "one for the road."

The auto industry this year as last stresses the safety features built into the new models.

The National Safety Council Chicago estimates that the four day holiday may see 660 traffic deaths in spite of all the warnings. The three day Christmas holiday last year set a record of 609 deaths.

The fraternal Order of Police in Philadelphia notes that auto fatalities so far this year are eight per cent ahead of last year. It fears this Christmas season will also set a new record.

The Institute for Safer Living, a division of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. of Boston, predicts that the toll between midnight Dec. 22 and midnight Dec. 31 may exceed 1,300. For the whole month of December more than 4,200 may meet death on the highways.

The National Licensed Beverage Assn., with a membership of 50,000 tavern owners and operators, and the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Assn., with 30,000 retail liquor stores as members, and Seagrams Distillers Co. are placing ads this year in 84 newspapers with an estimated 20 million readers, urging that coffee be the for-the-road drink.

Packets of instant coffee are being distributed to the distilling company's retail accounts so that bars can offer a free cup to departing patrons.

In some areas coffee companies are cooperating with local police to offer free cups to drivers showing signs of fatigue.

While drinking gets much of the blame for the traffic toll, there are other factors.

The Institute for Safer Living points out that this is the time of year when visibility is at its worst —the darkest days, often the worst weather. There is more fatigue, mental and physical from shopping as well as partying.

The Fraternal Order of Police urges avoidance of driving when over tired, as much as after drinking. It also suggests keeping a car window open, turning on the radio, or talking with other passengers as ways to help stay awake. The order says its 40,000 police officer members around the nation will do their best to help drivers hold down the carnage.

Fire Destroys Cleveland Church

Firemen, who fought the blaze in below - freezing temperature, succeeded in saving several nearby houses.

Israeli Leader Seeks Help In U.S.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mrs. Golda Meir, foreign minister of Israel, said here that her country, with the help of American Jews, can become a "model" for the entire Middle East.

She told a Bonds-for-Israel dinner that the Israelis have been terrorized by the Arab states since the day the nation was established in 1948.

"With your help, the country we have sought to find for centuries will develop and its people will live without fear," she said.

The 58-year-old widow said that Israel "watched President Nasser build up Egyptian air and sea power and point for he day when he could destroy us."

Businessmen Join Drive For Road Safety

Holiday Weekend Seen Bringing Peak Toll In Accidental Deaths

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — With the office party season coming to its annual climax today and Friday many businessmen are joining law enforcement groups in the drive to hold down traffic deaths in the coming long weekend.

There are around 72 million Americans who drive cars. The majority of them will be on the streets and highways at some time during the period between Friday evening and Tuesday midnight. The Christmas holidays usually see the year's peak of traffic fatalities.

The trend last year and this has been to put a brake on the office Christmas parties which have often had traffic accidents as aftermaths.

Segments of the liquor industry are appealing for temperance before driving and have a tie-in with the coffee industry to urge that drivers make a cup of coffee their "one for the road."

The auto industry this year as last stresses the safety features built into the new models.

The National Safety Council Chicago estimates that the four day holiday may see 660 traffic deaths in spite of all the warnings. The three day Christmas holiday last year set a record of 609 deaths.

The fraternal Order of Police in Philadelphia notes that auto fatalities so far this year are eight per cent ahead of last year. It fears this Christmas season will also set a new record.

The Institute for Safer Living, a division of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. of Boston, predicts that the toll between midnight Dec. 22 and midnight Dec. 31 may exceed 1,300. For the whole month of December more than 4,200 may meet death on the highways.

The National Licensed Beverage Assn., with a membership of 50,000 tavern owners and operators, and the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Assn., with 30,000 retail liquor stores as members, and Seagrams Distillers Co. are placing ads this year in 84 newspapers with an estimated 20 million readers, urging that coffee be the for-the-road drink.

Frisco Cagers Taste Defeat For 3rd Time

Famous Dons Quintet No Longer Able To Show Winning Form

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two years ago San Francisco's Dons came quietly out of the West and took college basketball by storm. Now this season's club, doomed from the start, is on the last leg of a dreary trip through the Midwest, facing a rebuilding job for the future.

After adding five victories to the two-year-streak built by the graduated Bill Russell & Co. for an all-time winning record of 60, the Dons now have lost three in a row, the last two in collegiate competition.

Western Kentucky, ranked 20th in this week's Associated Press poll with a 3-1 record, tumbled the second-ranked Dons 61-57 Wednesday night.

On Monday, Illinois had put an official end to the winning record with a 62-33 thumping, although the Dons also had been beaten Saturday at Chicago. That defeat, however, was an unofficial "exhibition" setback by the U.S. Olympic champions — who included Russell and K. C. Jones, also an ex-Don.

The balance of power seems to have shifted on a conference basis as well. The Big 10, with Iowa, Illinois and Indiana; the Southeastern, with Kentucky and Alabama, and the Atlantic Coast, with North Carolina State and North Carolina, have been the powerhouses of recent years.

The Big Seven, meanwhile, looks to be back in business. Kansas, with Wilt the Stilt, is No. 1, and the conference also has unbeatens in Nebraska and Iowa State, and has a once-beaten darkhorse in Missouri.

Mizzou made it four in a row Wednesday night with a 59-52 job on Oregon. The Tigers lost their opener to Purdue by two points.

In the tournament picture, Wake Forest repeated as the Carrousel Classic champ by defeating Auburn 58-48 with Florida topping St. Joseph's (Pa) 86-72 for third.

The Quantico Marines bopped Hampden-Sydney 109-68 and Mt. St. Mary's (Md) trimmed Belmont Abbey 103-81 to gain tonight's final in the Quantico tourney.

Deers, Scioto Set Friday Night Tilts

Two county high schools have scheduled non-league basketball games this week.

Williamsport is slated to host Clarksburg tonight and Scioto travels to nearby Mt. Sterling for a contest Friday night.

County league schools, taking time out for the Christmas holidays, are scheduled to swing back into action January 4.

Ex-Rams Star Claims Bonus Paid To 'Get' Quarterback

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Does professional football condone roughness against key players and is there a monetary reward for knocking them out of the game?

A former Los Anwes Ram star, who declines use of his name, says that from 1951 through 1953, every quarterback in the National Football League was a target "and the guy who got the quarterback out of the game got a jackpot that we all donated to."

"But that doesn't mean we wanted the quarterback out of there illegally," the player told Times football writer Jack Geyer. "It was just real good hard tackling to put him on his back. The coaches were aware of it."

Jumbo Joe Stydahar was coaching the Rams in 1951 but was succeeded by Hampton Pool. Pool was unavailable for comment.

The player pools, the former Ram said, usually ran about $40, "with each player putting in a buck or so."

"I don't recall of any player being knocked out of a game, but there were many instances of a lineman getting a small bonus every time he put the quarterback on his back."

Several players who were with the Rams in the early '50s denied the existence of such pools.

"In my eight years with the Rams there never has been any effort to hurt someone illegally," said star end Elroy (razylegs) Hirsch. "I can say in all honesty that if a team has a key player such as Bobby Layne of Detroit, another club will put on an added effort to stop him."

Hirsch said he knew of no money rewards. Nearly all his service with the Rams has been with the offensive unit, however.

In Los Angeles, Tex Schramm, general manager of the Rams, said he had not heard of a player pool for taking care of opposing quarterbacks "aid if we had, we wouldn't condone it."

40 Foreign Olympic Stars Get OK For Entry Into U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may have come out second in the unofficial competition for points at the 1956 Olympics, but it seems likely to emerge with more athletes than it had when the games started.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced Tuesday he has authorized emergency admission into the United States of 40 Olympic athletes who chose not to return to their Iron Curtain countries when the games ended in Australia.

The athletes concerned, who are now in Melbourne, include 35 Hungarians, 4 Romanians and 1 Czech.

The Hungarians to be admitted to this country are among 48 who went to Australia for the Olympics and then did not return to their revolt-torn communist homeland. The original Hungarian team numbered 175, including coaches.

In a broadcast heard in Vienna Tuesday the Hungarian minister of state, Gyoergy Marosan, congratulated those who did return for escaping "traders in human beings" who, he said, went to Melbourne to "buy victims for political purposes."

He voiced gratitude over Radio Budapest that Russia finished first in the Olympics, saying "this proved that the socialist countries are in the forefront in every field." The United States was second; Hungary finished fifth.

Some of the Hungarians who stayed behind planned to remain in Australia for the time being and others hope to settle in countries other than the United States.

One of those to be admitted to this country is Laszlo Tabori, a 4-minute miler. Another is his coach, Mihaly Igloi. Others include fencers, swimmers and members of the water polo team.

In granting them U. S. entry, Brownell used discretonary authority under the immigration laws, acting on State Department recommendations.

Charlie Ane, Detroit Lion offensive center, learned to kick barefooted in his native Hawaii.

Russell Signs Celtics Contract

BOSTON (AP) — All America Bill Russell has signed a one - year contract for a reported $17,000 with the Boston Celtics, but the incomparable Bob Cousy still reigns as the highest-paid player in the National Basketball Assn.

Celtics owner Walter Brown declined to disclose the terms of Russell's contract after signing ceremonies Wednesday, but said flatly the former University of San Francisco and Olympic star will not receive as much as Cousy who is believed to be drawing about $22,000 a year.

British Champion Floored By Webb

CHICAGO (AP) — For a fellow who had 44 fights, winning all but 2, Pat McAteer had plenty of unguarded moments Wednesday night in the Chicago Stadium ring.

The 24-year-old British Empire middleweight champion could hit with his left, but on defense it dangled helplessly and Spider Webb closed in to knock him down with rights four times.

Webb, also 24, finally ended the nationally televised bout by scoring a technical knockout in 2:32 of the second round.

Durable Dribbler Covers 22 Miles

WOOSTER (AP)—Wooster College doesn't have a title-winning basketball team this season, but it has a durable dribbler.

Proof of this came after sophomore Bruce Keene of McKeesport, Pa., declared he could dribble a basketball nonstop from the city limits of Wooster to those of Massillon.

His teammates took him up on that and raised a prize of $46.

Four hours and 57 minutes later, Keene dribbled into Massillon. The trip almost wore out a new basketball and averaged 104 dribbles for each of the 22 miles.

Western Pro Team Picked For Big Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The composition of the west team that will meet the east in the all-National Professional League football game Sunday, Jan. 13 is now official.

6 Players Sign With Browns '11'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Six players have been signed for 1957 by the Cleveland Browns whose 1956 season was the worst in the history of the team.

Those signed, all notable for their youth, are back Preston Carpenter, tackle Don Goss, guard Jim Ray Smith and center Art Hunter, all on the squad this season; and Tackle Fred Robinson, who spent the season in Canada; and Bill Quinlan, a 1956 draftee still in the armed forces.

Kent State Cage Coach Quits Job

KENT (AP)—Dave McDowell quit as basketball coach of Kent State University after his Golden Flashes lost to the Michigan Wolverines Wednesday night 100-60.

The 35-year-old McDowell's plan to quit was confirmed a few hours before the game by athletic director Trevor Rees.

For the rest of the season, the Kent team will be handled by Carl Chestnutt, assistant basketball coach; and Dick Kotis, freshman cage coach, Rees said.

Kent's loss to Michigan was its sixth in seven starts, its only victory being over Earlham.

40 Foreign Olympic Stars Get OK For Entry Into U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may have come out second in the unofficial competition for points at the 1956 Olympics, but it seems likely to emerge with more athletes than it had when the games started.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced Tuesday he has authorized emergency admission into the United States of 40 Olympic athletes who chose not to return to their Iron Curtain countries when the games ended in Australia.

The athletes concerned, who are now in Melbourne, include 35 Hungarians, 4 Romanians and 1 Czech.

The Hungarians to be admitted to this country are among 48 who went to Australia for the Olympics and then did not return to their revolt-torn communist homeland. The original Hungarian team numbered 175, including coaches.

In a broadcast heard in Vienna Tuesday the Hungarian minister of state, Gyoergy Marosan, congratulated those who did return for escaping "traders in human beings" who, he said, went to Melbourne to "buy victims for political purposes."

He voiced gratitude over Radio Budapest that Russia finished first in the Olympics, saying "this proved that the socialist countries are in the forefront in every field." The United States was second; Hungary finished fifth.

Some of the Hungarians who stayed behind planned to remain in Australia for the time being and others hope to settle in countries other than the United States.

One of those to be admitted to this country is Laszlo Tabori, a 4-minute miler. Another is his coach, Mihaly Igloi. Others include fencers, swimmers and members of the water polo team.

In granting them U. S. entry, Brownell used discretonary authority under the immigration laws, acting on State Department recommendations.

Charlie Ane, Detroit Lion offensive center, learned to kick barefooted in his native Hawaii.

Russell Signs Celtics Contract

BOSTON (AP) — All America Bill Russell has signed a one - year contract for a reported $17,000 with the Boston Celtics, but the incomparable Bob Cousy still reigns as the highest-paid player in the National Basketball Assn.

Celtics owner Walter Brown declined to disclose the terms of Russell's contract after signing ceremonies Wednesday, but said flatly the former University of San Francisco and Olympic star will not receive as much as Cousy who is believed to be drawing about $22,000 a year.

British Champion Floored By Webb

CHICAGO (AP) — For a fellow who had 44 fights, winning all but 2, Pat McAteer had plenty of unguarded moments Wednesday night in the Chicago Stadium ring.

The 24-year-old British Empire middleweight champion could hit with his left, but on defense it dangled helplessly and Spider Webb closed in to knock him down with rights four times.

Webb, also 24, finally ended the nationally televised bout by scoring a technical knockout in 2:32 of the second round.

Durable Dribbler Covers 22 Miles

WOOSTER (AP)—Wooster College doesn't have a title-winning basketball team this season, but it has a durable dribbler.

Proof of this came after sophomore Bruce Keene of McKeesport, Pa., declared he could dribble a basketball nonstop from the city limits of Wooster to those of Massillon.

His teammates took him up on that and raised a prize of $46.

Four hours and 57 minutes later, Keene dribbled into Massillon. The trip almost wore out a new basketball and averaged 104 dribbles for each of the 22 miles.

6 Players Sign With Browns '11'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Six players have been signed for 1957 by the Cleveland Browns whose 1956 season was the worst in the history of the team.

Those signed, all notable for their youth, are back Preston Carpenter, tackle Don Goss, guard Jim Ray Smith and center Art Hunter, all on the squad this season; and Tackle Fred Robinson, who spent the season in Canada; and Bill Quinlan, a 1956 draftee still in the armed forces.

Kent State Cage Coach Quits Job

KENT (AP)—Dave McDowell quit as basketball coach of Kent State University after his Golden Flashes lost to the Michigan Wolverines Wednesday night 100-60.

The 35-year-old McDowell's plan to quit was confirmed a few hours before the game by athletic director Trevor Rees.

For the rest of the season, the Kent team will be handled by Carl Chestnutt, assistant basketball coach; and Dick Kotis, freshman cage coach, Rees said.

Kent's loss to Michigan was its sixth in seven starts, its only victory being over Earlham.

CHS Meets Greenfield Friday; Seek Third Consecutive Victory

Circleville High school's cage Tigers, currently enjoying a two-game winning streak, will attempt to make it three in a row Friday night when they host the cagers of Greenfield McClain in the local gym.

The contest will be the second South Central Ohio League meeting for the Tigers. They won their first loop battle against Washington C. H. last Friday night.

The CHS outfit's other win was a 66 to 47 decision over Groveport, registered Tuesday night.

Friday night's encounter will be the last pre-Christmas appearance for the Tigers. The next regularly scheduled game is set for January 4 when the locals travel to Hillsboro.

APPARENTLY hitting a winning stride, the Tigers have displayed a relaxed and determined brand of play in their last two outings.

In the three home games played so far this season, attendance at the spacious E. Mill St. gym has been sadly lacking. In fact, the Tigers have probably played for more empty seats than those occupied.

To relief this situation, all local cage fans are urged to back the CHS cage performers by attending future hardwood battles. The Tigers' past two tests indicate that fans can expect to witness some exciting moments and good sound basketball.

Following Friday night's battle, only three home tilts remain on the CHS schedule.

Fighter Says Aragon Offers Bribe For Dive

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Welterweight fighters Dick Goldstein and Art Aragon, whom Goldstein charged tried to bribe him to take a "dive," took lie dteector tests Wednesday night.

Results were not expected to be known for a week.

The state boxing commission started an investigation.

Goldstein testified at a commission hearing Aragon, third-ranked welter, tried to bribe him to throw a fight Tuesday night.

Goldstein said he was threatened with death if he didn't take a "dive" in the third round.

Aragon denied any such deal.

Both appeared eager to take the lie detector test.

The fight never came off. Aragon called in Dr. C. D. Henry, state boxing commission doctor, who said Aragon had a reddened throat and a slight fever.

Goldstein testified Aragon approached him Dec. 7 and promised him a fight in San Antonio if he would agree to "take a dive." Goldstein said he agreed, but denied intending to go through with what he called "the fix."

Aragon testified the only thing resembling Goldstein's testimony was the Goldstein had admitted he was afraid and Aragon had told him, "if you get knocked down and hurt, just stay down. Don't play the hero."

Aragon accused Goldstein of bringing the charges for publicity.

U.S.-British Accord Labeled A 'Must'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sir Harold Caccia, British ambassador to the United States, says Britain and the United States are "in the same boat" and if the two countries are to survive in freedom they must stand firm together for true peace.

Caccia told the Pilgrims of the United States that despite differences between London and Washington over Egypt, the U. S.-British alliance must be restored to good working condition.

He added, "if we quarrel, we may rock or even sink the boat."

Solons In Doghouse In Doghouse Deal

CHARDON (AP)—Geauga County commissioners are in the doghouse over an $8,000 doghouse being built on county property.

Claridon Zoning Inspector Howard Ensign had work halted on the cement blockstructure because the area is zoned for private residences. The structure is planned for housing dogs picked up by county dog wardens. The commissioners let the building contract last month. A hearing has been set by the Claridon zoning appeals board for Dec. 28.

Elk Cagemen Post Upset In League Play

Scioto Elks fashioned a real upset last night as they earned a hard-fought 79 to 75 overtime win over previously undefeated Amanda in city league cage play at the fairgrounds coliseum last night.

In the other contest of the evening, Pickaway Dairy thundered past DeMolay, 71-57. Stoutsville, failing to field a team, forfeited to Kingston.

The Elks-Amanda battle ended in a 71-71 deadlock at the end of four regulation periods. Although trailing throughout most of the game, the Elkmen exploded in the overtime period to outscore the losers, 8-4.

Don Olney set the pace for the winners with 30 points. Jim McConnell was close behind with 27.

TOM BRYANT of Amanda gained scoring honors for the evening by recording 34 points.

Jack Young was high man for the winning dairy cagers with 18 points. The losing effort was led by Riegel with 16 points.

Manhole Covers To Satisfy Milady

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The city engineering department has capitulated to women's fashions and ordered 500 new manhole covers with holes too small to catch the heels of feminine shoes. New covers will have holes 5⅝-inch across.

The old ones were an inch in diameter. The decision to buy them followed a lawsuit brought by a woman who said she fell when her heel caught in one of the old-style covers.

Church Paper Jibes At Presley Shows

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indiana Catholic and Reporter newspaper's question and answer column contains this exchange:

"Q. Is it a sin to attend an Elvis Presley show?

"A. I'm not sure whether it is a sin, but it sure is a crime . . . . Please don't ask me to see one of his shows and censor it. I heard him 'sing' once or twice and I couldn't stand the sight and sound combined."

Abandoned Baby Found In Locker

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A telephone call from a weeping woman sent detectives to a railroad depot where they opened a locker and found an abandoned baby girl, cradled in a gay Christmas box.

The tiny girl was sped to County Emergency Hospital. After it was determined that she was in excellent physical condition, she was transferred to the nursery at County General Hospital. The woman didn't identify herself, but indicated she was phoning from Chicago.

Mansfield Plagued By Salt Water

MANSFIELD (AP) — Mansfield, hundreds of miles from the ocean, had plenty of salt water today.

Two hundred and forty tons of salt which the city had stored for use on streets this winter is flowing away with the waters of Rocky Fork Creek near here.

It happened when a water line broke in a city storage building where the salt was piled. Workmen didn't find the leak until the salt was about gone. The salt water flowed into the creek.

Hy-Line 934-A

NEW White-Egg PROFIT MAKER

From the vast Hy-Line research program comes this new white-egg layer that even out-performs previous Hy-Line varieties . . . in two ways.

1 Lays Even Better — Hy-Line 934-A produces 6 to 12 more eggs than any white-egg Hy-Line layer ever sold. Outlays even Hy-Line 934 that laid about 2½ dozen more eggs per bird per year than good leghorns. In addition, Hy-Line 934-A has the same stamina as the famed Hy-Line 934 which outlived leghorns by 7% to 10% over a year's lay.

2 Pays Even Better — Hy-Line 934-A puts more profit in your pocket. Increased feed efficiency, excellent livability, better production — all add up to greater profit total than ever.

Iowa Coach Says Rose Foe To Be Tough

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Big Ten holds a 9-to-1 edge over the Pacific Coast Conference since their Rose Bowl pact was signed, but coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa says he isn't underestimating Oregon State College.

OSC is the Hawkeyes' opponent in Pasadena Jan. 1. Earlier in the season Iowa beat the Beavers at Iowa City, 14-13, and had to come from behind to do it.

"We expect plenty of opposition. Year in and out, PCC teams are just as good as those in the Big Ten, although I would say that our conference probably has better balance," Evashevski said.

"Usually, however, UCLA, Southern California, Stanford and occasionally a Northwest team can battle any Big Ten team on even terms."

The Iowa coach ventured the opinion after driving his squad through a workout at East Los Angeles Junior College Stadium. The Hawkeyes toured Disneyland, and met their OSC opponents, who also were guests of Walt Disney.

The Beavers had a morning workout Wednesday, but no heavy practice.

"We're going to have to adjust ourselves to this good weather," said coach Tommy Prothro at the OSC camp at Santa Monica. "We've been enduring lots of rain and it has been chilly. It was 76 here Wednesday. However, I guess Iowa has the same problem."

The only tickets to the Rose Bowl game for the general public were placed on sale Wednesday in Pasadena. There were 3,500 of them and they were gone in about 75 minutes.

The 1957 University of North Carolina football team will lose only two starters from the 1956 team. They are halfbacks Ed Sutton and Larry McMullen.

Sokolsky's

These Days

He only knows that he does not want the children to be told that the moral law was revealed to Moses on Mount Sinai; does he mind if the moral law was revealed to someone else? Perhaps to Confucius or Karl Marx? And where does one stop? If Isaiah is forbidden, is Spinoza permitted? If Job is unconstitutional, is Zoroaster constitutional?

I wonder if Dean Pike would regard it as evil per se if the Psalms were sung to a rock-N-roll beat; and yet, I have heard my own father sing sacred prayers to tunes adapted from Italian operas which sometimes are as hurdy-gurdyish as the current things which a singer like Perry Como puts across without even opening his mouth.

Why object to the way folks sing of God or pray to God? Each will do it in his own way and for many who never heard the Lord's Prayer, the popular song about it is a revelation and an inspiration.

The first highways known were the trade routes connecting east and west about 2000 B.C.

The first law paper in the west, the "Chicago Legal News", was founded by Myra Bardwell in 1868.

Iowa Coach Says Rose Foe To Be Tough

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Big Ten holds a 9-to-1 edge over the Pacific Coast Conference since their Rose Bowl pact was signed, but coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa says he isn't underestimating Oregon State College.

OSC is the Hawkeyes' opponent in Pasadena Jan. 1. Earlier in the season Iowa beat the Beavers at Iowa City, 14-13, and had to come from behind to do it.

"We expect plenty of opposition. Year in and out, PCC teams are just as good as those in the Big Ten, although I would say that our conference probably has better balance," Evashevski said.

"Usually, however, UCLA, Southern California, Stanford and occasionally a Northwest team can battle any Big Ten team on even terms."

The Iowa coach ventured the opinion after driving his squad through a workout at East Los Angeles Junior College Stadium. The Hawkeyes toured Disneyland, and met their OSC opponents, who also were guests of Walt Disney.

The Beavers had a morning workout Wednesday, but no heavy practice.

"We're going to have to adjust ourselves to this good weather," said coach Tommy Prothro at the OSC camp at Santa Monica. "We've been enduring lots of rain and it has been chilly. It was 76 here Wednesday. However, I guess Iowa has the same problem."

The only tickets to the Rose Bowl game for the general public were placed on sale Wednesday in Pasadena. There were 3,500 of them and they were gone in about 75 minutes.

The 1957 University of North Carolina football team will lose only two starters from the 1956 team. They are halfbacks Ed Sutton and Larry McMullen.

Sokolsky's These Days

He only knows that he does not want the children to be told that the moral law was revealed to Moses on Mount Sinai; does he mind if the moral law was revealed to someone else? Perhaps to Confucius or Karl Marx? And where does one stop? If Isaiah is forbidden, is Spinoza permitted? If Job is unconstitutional, is Zoroaster constitutional?

I wonder if Dean Pike would regard it as evil per se if the Psalms were sung to a rock-N-roll beat; and yet, I have heard my own father sing sacred prayers to tunes adapted from Italian operas which sometimes are as hurdy-gurdyish as the current things which a singer like Perry Como puts across without even opening his mouth.

Why object to the way folks sing of God or pray to God? Each will do it in his own way and for many who never heard the Lord's Prayer, the popular song about it is a revelation and an inspiration.

The first highways known were the trade routes connecting east and west about 2000 B.C.

The first law paper in the west, the "Chicago Legal News", was founded by Myra Bardwell in 1868.

"Unto Us A Child Is Born" The Holy Night Was Silent

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of studies of the birth and times of Christ. It portrays Mary, blessed among women, on the night of the Nativity.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Newsfeatures

A beetle crept upward on the stone wall. In the pale lantern light, the young woman watched it. She lay on a straw pallet. The beetle moved slowly. It seemed to take a long time to move a finger's breadth.

Mary smiled dreamily. Poor little beetle. You have to climb so far and so hard. But it will not be long now. You will make it. All is well, blessedly well.

Never had she known a stable was so wondrously comforting.

Just outside the entrance, Joseph stood outlined against the night, a dark, steadfast sentry. From beyond came the faint singing of crickets. Mary breathed evenly. A blissful warmth pervaded her whole being.

KEEP GOING, little beetle. You can do it. You clasp the hewn stone so valiantly, searching ahead with your tiny legs. Do not be fearful. Our shelter here is good and pleasant.

Mary let her eyes rove about the stall. The lantern flame, sheathed in hareskin, cast a mellow glow. She would always cherish this quiet, secure place, its sturdy, soiled walls.

None of this night would ever leave her.

She had been relieved beyond words when Joseph found this refuge, at last, after his unavailing entreaties at the inn. Good Joseph. He had not known how spent the journey left her. The stable had been as welcome as a palace.

And all the marveling days before. . . Ever since the divine message had come that she would bear a Son, not by man, but of God, her soul had magnified the Lord. He chose her — a lowly village girl—as his handmaiden!

"Thou are highly favored . . ." How mystifying those words had been. That it would be she, poor, of no rank, of humble habit.

HOLD TIGHT, little one. Indomitable beetle, straining upward, hugging the stone.

Every passing moment, every thing around, seemed highly precious. Lying there, wrapped in a woolen shawl, with the soft fragrant bed of straw, Mary could feel at moments the very core of her life hurtling toward some poignant fulfillment, then dissolving into pure serenity.

Nothing, nothing at all, remained of the agitation in which she had hastened to her cousin's house, after first learning she would bear a holy Son. Elizabeth had understood at once. "Blessed art thou among women. . ."

In time, Joseph also understood. Though older, his joy had become as boundless as hers as the time neared. She had spent the days plainly — weaving, grinding grain, drying fruit — but with a bright treasure in her heart.

Now, in this soothing haven, with light swaying on the rafters, and her good husband at call, she drifted at intervals in vivid heights and delicious reverie.

Waves of happiness flowed over her like music, ebbing and swelling. She found herself gazing mistily at the beetle again. It had traversed two more stones and still struggled heroically. Do not give up little beetle. There is not far to go.

THE STABLE, the night, the world itself seemed to be expanding around her, and the lantern light was more alive. She felt as if she were floating, rising, until she almost touched the very heavens. Almost. . .

The rapture came back over her again, like warm surf.

Then suddenly her eyes were open and she was staring directly across the room at a cow, placidly chewing, her eyes big and kind. Mary gazed at her fondly. The cow was so friendly, such a close companion.

Sweet night! Good stable! Dear creatures of God!

Excitement was gathering in her, gathering slowly, increasing, gathering steadily and more swiftly.

She could not hear the crickets any more, but a stronger, greater rhapsody was ringing out. Her eyes were closed. Her lips moved rapidly in prayer. Her heart filled until it seemed almost bursting. She felt lifted up, up, up in an infinite design, a part of the miracle of all creation, sharing a secret with God. And the stars raced by.

THEN, ALL was still. The night was silent.

"Joseph!"

A new-born Baby Boy puckered up his face and let out His first cry.

Joseph already was beside her, and she was looking up at him, and crying a little bit herself, but smiling, too, and she saw he also was crying, and it seemed so very foolish, because she could not be happier, and she doubted if he could be, either, but she looked at the Baby, and burst out crying all over again.

"Blessed Mary," Joseph kept saying. "Praise God!" He was saying first one and then the other.

She took some swaddling cloth they had brought, and wrapped the Baby, and laid him in a manger.

Mary smiled at Him, shaking her head, but the tears kept coming, and she could not help it.

IT MUST have been a long time before she looked up and saw that the beetle had made it to the high ledge.

"And there were shepherds in the same country abiding in the field, and keeping watch over their flocks. And an angel of the Lord stood by them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

"And the angel said unto them, be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people: for there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

"And this is the sign unto: Ye shall find a Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger. And suddenly, there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace, good will to men."
